

HARVEST LABOR RAIL RATE MADE

CONGRESS NOT TO BE CALLED BY PRESIDENT

Will be no Special Session
Prior to Regular Assembly in December

PRESIDENT'S ATTITUDE

Thinks that Country is Benefitting by Present Long Recess of Congress

On Board U. S. S. Henderson with President Harding, July 21.—President Harding, it can be declared positively, has no intention of calling Congress in session in advance of its regular session in December.

While the chief executive himself has made no direct statement those in his party who reflect his views say he has no idea of heeding a demand for an extra session made by Senator Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa.

Mr. Harding, these associates of his say, feels that there is little or no need for any immediate assembling of the federal legislative body and furthermore that the leaders in Congress together with the public agree that the public is benefitting by the current recess of Congress.

City Engineer's Petition Is Before State Railroad Commission

Extension of the free delivery zone of the American Railway Express Company is asked by T. E.
Atkinson, city engineer, in a petition filed with the state railroad commission. The petition states that there has not been a realignment of territory included in the free delivery zone for many years, and that the city has grown rapidly in the meantime.

The present limits cover chiefly the present congested district downtown. Mr. Atkinson asks extension as far west as Hannafin, as far north as Avenue D and as far east as Fourteenth street.

S. A. Davis of St. Paul, express company superintendent, and V. E.
Smart, traffic manager for the railroad commission, traveled over the territory yesterday afternoon. The result probably will be a recommendation for an extension of the free delivery zone to include practically all of the territory on the west and north sides asked in the petition and most of it on the east side, territory not well built up being excepted.

LODGE WOMEN BUY BUILDING

Degree of Honor Protective Association Is Owner

North Dakota is much interested in the recent purchase by the National Degree of Honor Protective association of a five-story home office building in St. Paul—to be used for the transaction of all business of the organization, which has 72,000 members and more than 3,500 in the state of North Dakota.

The North Dakota organization is joint owner in the new building and in all the assets of the association, including the relief fund for aged members of $38,000 and in the $8-000,000 Reserve and Emergency Fund, with a valuation of 100 per cent, on old plan, which are rapidly transferring. All business of the organization is transacted by women. The business for the year was more than $1,500,000.

North Dakota has two women on the National Board who were instrumental in getting the new national headquarters—Mrs. Frankie Lyman of Cando and Mrs. Kate Blewett of Jamestown.

Red Cross Sent Man To Aid

Walter Wessellus was sent to Hettinger county recently by the Red Cross for the purpose of aiding any needy persons following the cyclone which killed several people. A report of his activity has not yet reached here.

STATE EMPLOYE TO NEW PLACE

R. Reep, deputy bank examiner, has resigned to accept a position as field examiner for the War Finance Commission, with headquarters in Minneapolis. He came to the state department from Williston.

FILIPINO MOVIE STAR

Miss Elena Jurado, first Filipino movie star, "broke in" when all San Francisco was combed for someone to fill a special part. She was such a success she now has her own company. She is a college graduate and will make pictures from her own scenarios, using scenes in her native land for a background.

LOCAL SETTERS ARE ENTERED IN BIG TRIALS

Mellon Farm Kennels to Send Three Dogs to Minnesota and Saskatchewan

A. W. Mellon, proprietor of the Mellon Farm Kennels, plans to enter three of his best English setters in the field trials at Hanson, Minnesota and Gainsborough, Saskatchewan in September. There will be 100 dogs at the former from Minnesota, North and South Dakota and 200 at the latter.

Mr. Mellon now has one of the finest groups of English setters in the country, there being 30 dogs in the kennels. The kennel headed by "Mississippi," a little brother of Eugene M., recognized as the champion setter dog of the United States and valued at $15,000.

Mr. Mellon has engaged a professional trainer, who will come here August 1 to put the dogs through the paces and select those that will represent the kennels in the field trials.

Startling in a small way for the sport found in handling the animals, Mr. Mellon has built up the kennels and gained a wide reputation. Full grown setters sell from $200 to $500 each and pups from $50 to $250. Sales are made from the kennels to all parts of the country, recent deliveries being made in Washington, Baltimore and New York. The best price obtained this summer for a pup is $250, a St. Paul man purchasing the dog.

Mr. Mellon is constantly building up the kennels, keeping entirely to the Eugene M. family strain.
Last week he purchased four dogs, two coming from Alabama and two from Wisconsin.

While it is permitted to have dogs trained by a professional trainer in North Dakota, this state is about the only state prohibiting their use in the field, according to Mr. Mellon.

BRITISH NOTE IS DELIVERED

Pledge of Secrecy Is Obtained
From the French

London, July 21.—The British note in reply to the German reparations communication has been delivered to the allied ambassadors and all members of the British cabinet have dispatched the note to the country for the weekend. It is understood the French cabinet meets tomorrow.

TWO PEOPLE ELECTROCUTED

Columbus, N. D., July 21.—John Keller, aged 60 and his daughter Helen Keller, aged 40, were electrocuted at their farm home near here Tuesday evening when they came into contact with a barbed wire fence across which a broken high power line wire had fallen.

It is thought that Miss Keller attempted to open the gate when she was brought into contact with 2,000 volts of electricity. Upon hearing her screams, her father rushed to her assistance and is believed to have been killed by the charge while attempting to release her. It is thought that he did not come in contact with the live wires, but rather was killed when taking hold of his daughter. A heavy wind is believed to have broken the high power line wire.

Wheat Pool Plan Decided By Directors

Grand Forks, N. D., July 21.—Members of the North Dakota Wheat Growers association, whose grain was sold through the organization, will be recompensed on the basis of the average price received by the organization for the grain from the time the pool was opened, so Aug. 1, this year, it was decided by directors of the organization in annual meeting here.

By that time, more than 95 percent of the average price will have been paid to the members and the remainder, a very small amount, will be paid as soon as $200,000 bushels of wheat now on hand, are disposed of.
In the meanwhile, the 800,000 bushels will be held for a better price, and loans will be negotiated on the basis of 95 per cent of the present inventory value of this grain, and this loan distributed to the members. It is realized that it is impossible to obtain a straight loan of 95 per cent of the present inventory value of the 300,000 bushels, but the difference between the loan that can be secured, and the 95 per cent of the inventory value, will be obtained, it is expected, from the reserve fund of the American Wheat Growers association, of which the local organization is a member. When this loan is distributed to the members, it is said, practically all of the average price, of grain sold, will have been paid to the members.

John Coates of St. Cloud, Minn., William Johnson of Osakis, Minn., and John Brader of Lisbon, three veterans who were with General Sibbey in 1893, when he made his drive to the Missouri river and sent the Indian west of it for good, are making the trip over the trail again.
They visited Bismarck on their trip, and the old camp on Apple Creek near here. They were particularly interested in the marker for the grave of Lieut. Beaver, killed on the trip. Mr. Brader is 91 years old but is enjoying the trip immensely.

PHONE RATES EXPECTED TO REMAIN SAME

Railroad Commission Accountants Say Earnings in N. D. Not Excessive

TO DISMISS SUIT?

Interference Had Been Prevented by Injunction Issued by Federal Court

With the accounting department of the state railroad commission agreeing that the North Dakota Independent Telephone Company and the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company are not making an excessive profit from rates charged in their exchanges, which are in the principal cities of the state, it was expected today that the state railroad commission would take steps to either permit the injunction issued by the federal court to be made permanent or enter an order fixing the present rates as legal rates for the companies.

Accountants and engineers for the commission, testifying yesterday afternoon in the commission's general investigation into phone rates in the state, said that records available showed that the companies were making a little over 4 per cent on their investment in North Dakota, placed at more than $5,000, 000.

Representatives of the companies also maintained their revenue was approximately 4 per cent, based on the book value of the plants, and giving no consideration to the production cost of their property.

It was stated by representatives of the companies, however, that they were not seeking increases in rates at this time. Under the public utility law such companies are permitted to make an 8 per cent return, which has been held reasonable by the commission.

The commission also heard testimony as to alleged discrimination between companies in the "call line charge," where a phone call goes over wires of two companies.
No decision has been rendered.

SATISFIED IN TABERT CASE

Higginbotham Sentence Will Stick, Says Grimsom

Grand Forks, July 21.—G. Grimsom, state attorney of Cavalier county, and special assistant attorney general representing North Dakota in the trial of Walter Higginbotham for the fatal flogging of Martin Tabert in a Florida lumber camp, has arrived in North Dakota.

In commenting on the Higginbotham trial, Mr. Grimsom said that he and the other attorneys for the prosecution were fully satisfied with the verdict of second degree murder which was returned by the jury, and they felt that this was the crime which the evidence introduced proved.
There is little chance of Higginbotham's appeal to the supreme court of Florida being successful, he said.
Mr. Grimsom paid a strong tribute to the work of the Florida lawyers who took part in the prosecution.
These included Stafford Caldwell, James R. Kelly, state attorney of the third Florida circuit, and J. S.
Hodge and Guy Gillet, who assisted the state.

CROP LABORERS THREATENED BY I. W. W. FORCES

Would Put Them Off Trains and Use Violence to Enforce a Red Strike

PROMISES ACTION

Says State Will Uphold the Laws and Make It Safe For Harvest Workers

Threats have been made that men who enter North Dakota harvest fields to work will be roughly handled by the I. W. W. unless they buy the "wobblies" red card and agree to strike on an I. W. W. call.
Governor R. A. Nestos said today—

The full power of the state will be thrown behind workers in the fields to protect them from outrages, Governor Nestos said, in a statement as follows:

"Complaints have reached my office that men who come to work in the harvest fields are being threatened with bodily harm and that those who are coming will be put on the trucks by the I. W. W. unless they buy a red card and agree to abstain from or quit work whenever directed to do so by the I. W.
W. headquarters in Chicago. It would seem that such a condition should be impossible in a civilized country in this day and age.

Most Respect Rights
"I feel that in North Dakota the legal rights of every person, whether resident worker, transient laborer, or employer, must be respected and safeguarded, and the laws of the state obeyed and enforced. The right to organize and strike or to refuse to work is survivor no more sacred than the right of other workers to secure and hold employment when they and wages satisfactory and desire to work, and no person should be permitted to interfere with the workers or to threaten those who are engaged in legitimate employment in this state with bodily harm or the destruction of their property.

"Sheriffs and local police officers will be expected to protect the men who come here to help save our crops, at a fair wage, against these threats or intimidations and will be expected to enforce the laws of our state without fear and without favor. These officials may depend upon the full cooperation of the state administration and the support of the whole power of the state in maintaining the legal rights of our people and in enforce-ing the laws of our state. They will have the backing of the state in every lawful step they may take in enforcing the laws.

Want Others Here
"We want the farmer boys who come to our state from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, and South Dakota, to help us harvest and thresh our crops and who do not wish to join the I. W. W., to know that they do not need to do so and that they will be safeguarded in their right to refuse by all the powers of the state. The farmer boys need good workers, not loafers, and are willing to pay well for the right kind of work, but neither the farmer nor the state need the laborers who profess and follow the aims and purposes of the I. W. W., by compelling laborers to use threats and violence in subjecting the farmers and workers to their will."

EQUITY CASE IS HELD UP

Affidavits of Prejudice Filed Against Judge Cole

Fargo, July 21.—Arguments which were to have been made today before District Judge A. T. Cole to show cause why the temporary receivership of the Equity Cooperative Packing Company should not be made permanent were precluded when attorneys Harry Laskowski of Fargo and W. F. Hubert of Mandan, counsel for
C. W. Bachner, president of the company, filed an affidavit of prejudice against the court.

Judge Cole immediately ordered all proceedings held in status quo until a new judge is appointed to hear the argument.

GUN CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT

The best shots in central North Dakota are expected to compete here tomorrow in the Bismarck Gun Club's invitational "jack rabbit" shoot.

Entries have been received from Mandan, Washburn, Williston and Bismarck. Entries may be made at the time of the shoot, 2 p. m., Sunday. An especially large number of local men are urged to participate.

REVENGE ADVANCED AS THEORY FOR SLAYING OF VILLA, BLOODY BANDIT LEADER OF MEXICO, BY SMALL BAND

MORTON CASE IS REVERSED

The supreme court has reversed the case of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine company, plaintiff, and appellant, against Joseph Mucovsky, defendant and respondent. The court held failure to determine a material issue presented was an error requiring reversal of judgment. The case was appealed by Judge Lemke, sitting in the Morton district court.

Landslide Halts Vessels,
Radio Reports Indicate

Los Angeles, July 21.—According to the Los Angeles Examiner a radio message was received here last night from the tanker Hugoton at Basilia Cruz containing the statement "held in canal."

This follows rumors that the Panama canal has been closed by a landslide which were contained in radio messages received from the tankers Geroche and Imlay on the way from Los Angeles harbor to the east coast, asking their agents for advice and instructions.

Panama City, July 21.—Word received here of reports circulated in the United States that the Panama canal had been closed because of landslide caused much surprise in the canal zone. This canal was in full operation today as usual.

BARRY WRITES TO TRIBUNE

Compliments Editor on Golden Jubilee Edition; Recalls Old Days

D. F. Barry, of Superior, Wis., well known photographer of noted Indians and resident of Bismarck in pioneer days, states in a letter to the Tribune that he was highly pleased with the Golden Jubilee edition of the Tribune and extended congratulations to the present editor. Some of his recollections of early Bismarck are related in the following letter:

"Permit me to congratulate the Tribune, and hope you strike no rough spots along the old trail in the future. Needless for me to say already was mighty poor for it many years ago. How well I can remember how poor Leslie would have to collect money enough to pay the boys Saturday night. What a pleasure to spend an evening with Jewell, Col. Plummer and Quinn. I can never forget an evening spent at the Ryan hotel with Jewell, Bill Quinn and Col. Plummer."

"They have all taken that old trail.
I sincerely hope they all may pitch camp together on the other side.
Wishing the old paper all kinds of good luck for the next fifty years, I remain,

Very sincerely,
D. F. BARRY."

STRIKES AT NEW PARTY

Former Nonpartisan Organ-Editor Sees Communist Activity

"The 'Progressive' newspaper published by John Andrews, former editor of the Courier-News, strikes out this week at a new party movement in the state. It says:

"The newest in North Dakota in the way of political tribes is the Federated Farmer-Labor party. Organization work has been going on since early spring when Scott Nearing was here and organized the nucleus for the new deadfall.
Mr. Nearing will be remembered as one of the committee who received $100,000 from a certain inheritance to promote the doctrine of Communism in this country. If the Federated Farmer-Labor party is to be judged by the personnel from this state as delegates to the Chicago convention, the great majority of farmers of North Dakota will have nothing to do with it."

"Alfred Knutson, with the aid of Communist friends, has been busy organizing the Federated Farmer-Labor party principally in the strong Socialist communities in the western part of the state. The work has been carried on quietly, a group of five or six trustees are gathered for a meeting, when the local unit is organized. With this as a basis, the work is then carried out into the country. It is reported to have small organizations in Bismarck, Minot, Crosby, Mandan, Williston, and other places.

"Many believe there is a plot on foot to swallow the League voting strength by turning it over to the Communists at the next state convention."

Either Relatives of Persons Having Emnity Against Him or Deserter From His Guard Killed Him, Belief

Expressed — Many People View Body of Slain Bandit
Chief.

Parral, Mexico, July 21.—The body of Francisco Villa, the Robin-hood of Mexico, indisputably the most interesting character of contemporary Mexican history, a strange combination of "horse sense" and fiery impulse, lies in the city hall here with thousands of persons today viewing it.

Always heavily armed as part of his military strategy he learned in a hard school of experience, Villa met death yesterday about 4 o'clock on the outskirts of Parral, between Long's house and the Guano Junta bridge.

Colonel Muguel Trillo, Villa's secretary, and Rosalio Morales, one bodyguard and one bystander whose name has not been learned, also were killed. One Villa guard was wounded.

The attacking band totaled seven, the bandit's unlucky number. The assailants were on foot while Pancho's were mounted hav-
lucky journey to his ranch at Canguillo, Durango.

A dozen bullets pierced Pancho's body and four crashed through his head. Six shots found their mark in Trillo.

Flee To River

The assassins fled to the river bed and sped off on horses which had been hidden in the river bed near the bridge.

General E. Martinez, commanding detachment of 100 federal soldiers, captured three of the attacking seven late yesterday, a short distance from here. General Martinez, who hurried here from Chihuahua City, for personal investigation is holding the men, acting under orders from President Obregon. The general said the assassins used 30-30 rifles.
Military detachments have left Jalisco to trace the murderers.

Federal troops today have gone to Panatillo in anticipation of possible disorders at the Villa ranch. Affairs affecting Villa's estate admittedly are mixed and even some proposition is openly made here that the ranch may revert to the state.

Troops Present

General Jose Escobar are bound here from Torreón to help in the pursuit of the assassins, who today remain unidentified.

Two theories are advanced by officers here in the investigation.
One is that deserters from Villa's guard committed the killing. The other is that of revenge.

Villa, the mountain man with ability to ride, shoot, and swear with a peculiar complex, the great weakness of which was an unconrollable temper, had many enemies—probably hundreds of men had sworn to take his life and according to his friends he had no enemy so bitter as Francisco Herrera and not without cause. Villa is claimed to have practically exterminated the Herrera family, prominent in Mexico. Maclovio Herrera, general over the left wing of Villa's 1914 army, was mysteriously murdered. Melchor, another general, his brother, Jose de Luz Herrera, his father, and a younger Herrera were executed on Easter morning in 1915 when they were led to a Parral graveyard. Francisco, the only male member of the family left, is a government official at Gomez Palacio Durango, not far from here.

SECRETARY EXONERATED

Chihuahua City, Mexico, July 21.—
Official headquarters yesterday confirmed the death of Francisco Villa near Parral and exonerated his secretary, Miguel Trillo, of all blame for his death. Earlier telegrams said Villa was killed by his secretary.

NO MILITARY FUNERAL

Mexico City, July 21.—President Obregon's plans to accord full military honors to the funeral of Francisco Villa, former rebel chieftain, who was killed yesterday, will not be carried out as was announced officially at the war department late last night, because Villa's name was not carried upon the official military rolls of the government.

WARM WEATHER IN NEXT WEEK

Washington, July 21.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday.

Region of the Great Lakes and Upper Mississippi Valley: Warm and generally fair but with a probability of widely scattered local thunder showers.

St. Paul, July 21.—Officials of the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific conference today with Governor R. A.

Nestos of North Dakota, J. A. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, and J. D. Williams, member of the Minnesota Industrial Commission, consented to make application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to put into effect a flat rate from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Superior and Sioux City, Ia., to the harvest workers for Minnesota and North Dakota.
The application will ask that this rate be granted from Duluth and Superior to all points in Minnesota on July 30 and 31 and from all five

CONGRESS NOT TO BE CALLED BY PRESIDENT

Will be no Special Session Prior to Regular Assembly in December

PRESIDENT'S ATTITUDE

Thinks that Country Is Benefitting by Present Long Recess of Congress

On Board U. S. S. Henderson with President Harding, July 21.—President Harding, it can be declared positively, has no intention of calling Congress in session in advance of its regular session in December.

While the chief executive himself has made no direct statement those in his party who reflect his views say he has no idea of heeding a demand for an extra session made by Senator Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa.

Mr. Harding, these associates of his say, feels that there is little or no need for any immediate assembling of the federal legislative body and furthermore that the leaders in Congress together with the public agree that the public is benefitting by the current recess of Congress.

ASKS EXPRESS ZONE EXTENDED IN BISMARCK

City Engineer's Petition Is Before State Railroad Commission

Extension of the free delivery zone of the American Railway Express Company is asked by T. R. Atkinson, city engineer, in a petition filed with the state railroad commission. The petition states that there has not been a realignment of territory included in the free delivery zone for many years, and that the city has grown rapidly in the meantime.

The present limits cover chiefly the present congested district downtown. Mr. Atkinson asks extension as far west as Hannafin, as far north as Avenue D and as far east as Fourteenth street.

S. A. Davis of St. Paul, express company superintendent, and V. E. Smart, traffic manager for the railroad commission, traveled over the territory yesterday afternoon. The result probably will be a recommendation for an extension of the free delivery zone to include practically all of the territory on the west and north sides asked in the petition and most of it on the east side, territory not well built up being excepted.

LODGE WOMEN BUY BUILDING

Degree of Honor Protective Association Is Owner

North Dakota is much interested in the recent purchase by the National Degree of Honor Protective association of a five-story home office building in St. Paul—to be used for the transaction of all business of the organization, which has 72,000 members and more than 3,500 in the state of North Dakota.

The North Dakota organization is joint owner in the new building and in all the assets of the association, including the relief fund for aged members of $38,000 and in the $3,000,000 Reserve and Emergency Fund, with a valuation of 100 per cent, on all certificates except a few on the old plan, which are rapidly transferring. All business of the organization is transacted by women. The business for the year was more than $1,500,000.

LOCAL SETTERS ARE ENTERED IN BIG TRIALS

Mellon Farm Kennels to Send Three Dogs to Minnesota and Saskatchewan

A. W. Mellon, proprietor of the Mellon Farm Kennels, plans to enter three of his best English setters in the field trials at Hanson, Minnesota and Gainsborough, Saskatchewan in September. There will be 100 dogs at the former from Minnesota, North and South Dakota and 200 at the latter.

Mr. Mellon now has one of the finest groups of English setters in the country, there being 30 dogs in the kennels. The kennel head is "Mississippi", a little brother of Eugene M., recognized as the champion setter dog of the United States and valued at $15,000.

Mr. Mellon has engaged a professional trainer, who will come here August 1 to put the dogs through the paces and select those that will represent the kennels in the field trials.

Startling in a small way for the sport found in handling the animals, Mr. Mellon has built up the kennels and gained a wide reputation. Full grown setters sell from $200 to $500 each and pups from $50 to $250. Sales are made from the kennels to all parts of the country, recent deliveries being made in Washington, Baltimore and New York. The best price obtained this summer for a pup is $250, a St. Paul man purchasing the dog.

Mr. Mellon is constantly building up the kennels, keeping entirely to the Eugene M. family strain. Last week he purchased four dogs, two coming from Alabama and two from Wisconsin.

While it is permitted to have dogs trained by a professional trainer in North Dakota, this state is about the only state prohibiting their use in the field, according to Mr. Mellon.

BRITISH NOTE IS DELIVERED

TWO PEOPLE ELECTROCUTED

Columbus, N. D., July 21.—John Keller, aged 60 and his daughter Helen Keller, aged 40, were electrocuted at their farm home near here Tuesday evening when they came into contact with a barbed wire fence across which a broken high power line wire had fallen.

It is thought that Miss Keller attempted to open the gate when she was brought into contact with 2,000 volts of electricity. Upon hearing her screams, her father rushed to her assistance and is believed to have been killed by the charge while attempting to release her. It is thought that he did not come in contact with the live wires, but rather was killed when taking hold of his daughter. A heavy wind is believed to have broken the high power line wire.

Wheat Pool Plan Decided By Directors

Grand Forks, N. D., July 21.—Members of the North Dakota Wheat Growers association, whose grain was sold through the organization, will be recompensed on the basis of the average price received by the organization for the grain from the time the pool was opened, to Aug. 1, this year, it was decided by directors of the organization in annual meeting here.

By that time, more than 95 per cent of the average price will have been paid to the members and the remainder, a very small amount, will be paid as soon as 300,000 bushels of wheat now on hand, are disposed of. In the meanwhile, the 300,000 bushels will be held for a better price, and loans will be negotiated on the basis of 95 per cent of the present inventory value of this grain, and this loan distributed to the members. It is realized that it is impossible to obtain a straight loan of 95 per cent of the present inventory value of the 300,000 bushels, but the difference between the loan that can be secured, and the 95 per cent of the inventory value, will be obtained, it is expected, from the reserve fund of the American Wheat Growers association, of which the local organization is a member. When this loan is distributed to the members, it is said, practically all of the average price of grain sold, will have been paid to the members.

THREE IN TRIP OVER OLD TRAIL

John Coates of St. Cloud, Minn., William Johnson of Osakis, Minn., and John Brader of Libon, three veterans who were with General Sibley in 1863, when he made his drive to the Missouri river and sent the Indians west of it for good, are making the trip over the trail again. They visited Bismarck on their trip, and the old camp on Apple Creek near here. They were particularly interested in the marker for the grave of Little Beaver, killed on the trip. Mr. Brader is 91 years old, but is enjoying the trip immensely.

PHONE RATES EXPECTED TO REMAIN SAME

Railroad Commission Accountants Say Earnings in N. D. Not Excessive

Interference Had Been Prevented by Injunction Issued by Federal Court

With the accounting department of the state railroad commission agreeing that the North Dakota Independent Telephone Company and the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company are not making an excessive profit from rates charged in their exchanges, which are in the principal cities of the state, it was expected today that the state railroad commission would take steps to either permit the injunction issued by the federal court to be made permanent or enter an order fixing the present rates as legal rates for the companies.

Accountants and engineers for the commission, testifying yesterday afternoon in the commission's general investigation into phone rates in the state, said that records available showed that the companies were making a little over 4 per cent on their investment in North Dakota, placed at more than $5,000,000.

Representatives of the companies also maintained their revenue was approximately 4 per cent, based on the book value of the plants, and giving no consideration to the reproduction cost of their property.

It was stated by representatives of the companies, however, that they were not seeking increases in rates at this time. Under the public utility law such companies are permitted to make an 8 per cent return, which has been held reasonable by the commission.

The commission also heard testimony as to alleged discrimination between companies in the "other line" charge, where a phone call goes over wires of two companies. No decision has been rendered.

SATISFIED IN TABERT CASE

Higginbotham Sentence Will Stick, Says Grimson

Grand Forks, July 21.—G. Grimson, state's attorney of Cavalier county, and special assistant attorney general representing North Dakota in the trial of Walter Higginbotham for the fatal flogging of Martha Tabert in a Florida lumber camp, has arrived in North Dakota.

In commenting on the Higginbotham trial, Mr. Grimson said that he and the other attorneys for the prosecution were fully satisfied with the verdict of second degree murder which was returned by the jury as they felt that this was the crime which the evidence introduced proved. There is little chance of Higginbotham's appeal to the supreme court of Florida being successful, he said.

Mr. Grimson paid a strong tribute to the work of the Florida lawyers who took part in the prosecution. These included Stafford Caldwell, specially employed as chief counsel, James R. Kelly, state's attorney of Duval Florida circuit, and B. H. Ellendale and G. H. Gillen, other Florida attorneys, who assisted the state.

CROP LABORERS THREATENED BY I. W. W. FORCES

Would Put Them Off Trains and Use Violence to Enforce a Red Strike

PROMISES ACTION

Says State Will Uphold the Laws and Make It Safe For Harvest Workers

Threats have been made that men who enter North Dakota harvest fields to work will be roughly handled by the I. W. W. unless they buy the "wobblies" red card and agree to strike on an I. W. W. call. Governor R. A. Nestos said today.

The full power of the state will be thrown behind workers in the fields to protect them from outrages. Governor Nestos said, in a statement as follows:

"Complaints have reached my office that men who come to work in the harvest fields are being threatened with bodily harm and that those who are coming will be put off the trains by the I. W. W. unless they buy a red card and agree to abstain from or quit work whenever directed to do so by the I. W. W. headquarters in Chicago. It would seem that such a condition should be impossible in a civilized country in this day and age.

Must Respect Rights

"I feel that in North Dakota the legal rights of every person, whether resident worker, transient laborer, or employer, must be respected and safeguarded, and the laws of the state obeyed and enforced. The right to organize and strike or to refuse to work is sure no more sacred than the right of other workers to secure and hold employment when they find wages satisfactory and desire to work, and no person should be permitted to interfere with the workers or to strike or to refuse to work in a legitimate employment in this state with bodily harm or the destruction of their property.

"Sheriffs and local police officers will be expected to protect the men who come here to help save our crops, at a fair wage, against these threats or intimidations and will be expected to enforce the laws of our state without fear and without favor. These officials may depend upon the full cooperation of the state administration and the support of the whole power of the state in maintaining the legal rights of our people and in enforcing the laws of our state. They will have the backing of the state in every lawful step that they may take in enforcing the laws.

Want Others Here

"We want the farmer boys who come to our state from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, and South Dakota to help us harvest and thresh our crops and who do not wish to join the I. W. W.'s, to know that they do not need to do so and that they will be safeguarded in their right to refuse by all the power the state possesses. The farmers need good workers, not loafers, and are willing to pay well for the right kind of work, but neither the farmer nor the state need the laborers who profess and follow the plans and purposes of the I. W. W.'s by compelling laborers to join their organization and to use threats and violence in subjecting the farmers and workers to their will."

EQUITY CASE IS HELD UP

Affidavits of Prejudice Filed Against Judge Cole

Fargo, July 21.—Arguments which were to have been made today before District Judge A. T. Cole to show cause why the temporary receivership of the Equity Cooperative Packing Company should not be made permanent were precluded when attorneys Harry Laskowitz of Fargo and T. P. Fisher of Mandan, counsel for C. W. Reichert, president of the company, filed an affidavit of prejudice against the court.

Judge Cole immediately ordered all proceedings held in status quo until a new judge is appointed to hear the argument.

Landslide Halts Vessels, Radio Reports Indicate

Los Angeles, July 21.—According to the Los Angeles Examiner a radio message was received here last night from the tanker tugboat, the B. J. Cruz containing the statement "held in canal."

This follows rumors that the Panama canal has been closed by a landslide which were contained in radio messages received from the tankers Genoa and Inlay on the way from Los Angeles harbor to the east coast, asking their agents for advice and instructions.

Panama City, July 21.—Word received here of reports circulated in the United States that the Panama canal had been closed because of a landslide caused much surprise in the canal zone. The canal was in full operation today as usual.

BARRY WRITES TO TRIBUNE

Compliments Editor on Golden Jubilee Edition; Recalls Old Days

D. F. Barry, of Superior, Wis., well known photographer of noted Indians and resident of Bismarck in pioneer days, states in a letter to the Tribune that he was highly pleased with the Golden Jubilee edition of the Tribune and extended congratulations to the present editor. Some of his recollections of early Bismarck are related in the following letter: "Permit me to congratulate the Tribune, and hope you strike me rough spots along the old trail in the future. Needless for me to say, I was mighty poor for it many years ago. How well I can remember how poor Leslie would have to collect money enough to pay the boys Saturday night. What a pleasure to spend an evening with Jewell, Col. Plummer and Quinn. I can never forget the night when the Ryan hotel with Jewell, Bill Quinn and Col. Plummer. "They have all taken that old trail. I sincerely hope they all may pitch camp together on the other side. Wishing the old paper all kinds of good luck for the next fifty years, I remain, Very sincerely, D. F. BARRY."

STRIKES AT NEW PARTY

Former Nonpartisan Organ Editor Sees Communist Activity

"The 'Progressive' newspaper published by John Andrews, former editor of the Courier-News, strikes out this part at a new party movement in the state. It says:

"The newest in North Dakota in the way of political tribes is the Federated Farmer-Labor party. Organization work has been going on since early spring when Scott Nearing was here and organized the nucleus for the new deadfall. Mr. Nearing will be remembered as one of the committee who received $100,000 from a certain inheritance to promote the doctrine of Communism in this country. If the Federated Farmer-Labor party is to be judged by the personnel from this state as delegates to the Chicago convention, the great majority of farmers of North Dakota will have nothing to do with it.

"Alfred Knutson, with the aid of Communist friends, has been organizing the Federated Farmer-Labor party principally in the western part of the state. The work has been carried on quietly, a group of five or six trustees are gathered for a meeting, when the local unit is organized. With this as a basis, the work is then carried out into the country. It is reported to have small organizations in Bismarck, Minot, Crosby, Mandan, Williston, and other places.

"Many believe there is a plot on foot to swallow the League party strength by turning it over to the Communists at the next state convention."

Either Relatives of Persons Having Enmity Against Him or Deserters From His Guard Killed Him, Belief Expressed — Many People View Body of Slain Bandit Chief.

Parral, Mexico, July 21.—The body of Francisco Villa, the Robinhood of Mexico, indisputably the most interesting character of contemporary Mexican history, a strident, a headstrong, a "horse sense" and fiery impulse, lies in the city hall here with thousands of persons today viewing it.

Always heavily armed as part of his military strategy he learned in a hard school of experience, Villa met death yesterday about 4 o'clock on the outskirts of Parral, between Long's house and the Guano Junta bridge.

Colonel Miguel Trillo, Villa's secretary, and Rosalio Morales, one bodyguard and one bystander whose name has not been learned, also were killed. One Villa guard was wounded.

The attacking band totaled seven, the bandit's unlucky number. The assailants were on foot while Pancho's were mounted having left Parral on a happy-go-lucky journey to his ranch at Canigulio, Durango.

A dozen bullets pierced Pancho's body and four crashed through his head. Six shots found their mark in Trillo.

The assassins fled to the river bed and sped off on horses which had been hidden in the river bed near the bridge.

General E. Martinez, commanding a detachment of 100 federal soldiers, captured three of the attacking seven late yesterday a short distance from here. General Martinez, who hurried here from Chihuahua City for personal investigation, is holding the men acting under orders from President Obregon. The general said the assassins used 30-30 rifles. Military detachments have left Jimenez Dallende to trace the murderers.

Federal troops today have gone to Panatillo in anticipation of possible disorders at the Villa ranch. Affairs affecting Villa's estate admittedly are mixed and even some proposition is openly made here that the ranch may revert to state.

Troops Present Troops from the command of General Jose Escobar are bound here from Torreon to help in the pursuit of the assassins, who today remain unidentified.

Two theories are advanced by officers here in the investigation. One is that deserters from Villa's guard committed the killing. The other is that of revenge.

Villa, the mountain man with ability to ride, shoot, and swear with a peculiar complex, the great weakness of which was an uncontrollable temper, had many enemies—probably hundreds of men had sworn to take his life—and according to his friends he had no enemy so bitter as Francisco Herrera and not without cause. Villa is claimed to have practically exterminated the Herrera family, prominent in Mexico. Maclovio Herrera, general over the left wing of Villa's 1914 army, was mysteriously murdered. Melaher, another general, his brother, Jose de LaLuz Herrera, his father, and a younger Herrera, were executed Easter morning in 1915 when they were led to a Parral graveyard. Francisco, the only male member of the family left, is a government official at Gomez Paizito Durango, not far from here.

SECRETARY EXONERATED Chihuahua City, Mexico, July 21.—Official telegrams received at military headquarters yesterday confirmed the death of Francisco Villa near Parral and exonerated his secretary, Miguel Trillo, of all blame for his death. Earlier telegram said Villa was killed by his secretary.

NO MILITARY FUNERAL Mexico City, July 21.—President Obregon's plans to accord full military honors to the funeral of Francisco Villa, former rebel chieftain, who was killed yesterday, will not be carried out. It was announced officially at the war department late last night, because Villa's name was not carried upon the official military rolls of the government.

RAILROADS TO PUT IN EFFECT 1922 SCHEDULE

$5 Rate From Labor Points to All Points in North Dakota To Be Allowed

AGREEMENT IN ST. PAUL

Conference Between Governor Nestos and Others Followed By Decision

St. Paul, July 21.—Officials of the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Soo inle railroads, after a conference today with Governor R. A. Nestos of North Dakota, J. A. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, and J. D. Williams, member of the Minnesota Industrial Commission, consented to make application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to put into effect a flat rate from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Superior and Sioux City, Ia., to the harvest workers for Minnesota and North Dakota. The application will ask that this rate be granted from Duluth and Superior to all points in Minnesota on July 30 and 31 and from all five points from August 1 to 5, inclusive, to any point in Minnesota or North Dakota.

The railroad officials agreed to file their application for their reduced second class rate this afternoon. The rate will be similar to that granted harvest hands during 1922.

Governor Nestos announced immediately after the conference that he will wire the Interstate Commerce Commission himself explaining the necessity of permission being granted railroads to put the rates into effect on short notice.

U. S. OPENS OFFICES

Fargo, July 21.—Field Director George Tucker, United States Employment Service, announced today he had appointed a dozen special labor agents in North Dakota to go on duty Monday directing the flow of harvest labor in the state. The offices and men to direct the labor supply are to be as follows:

Bismarck—to be named by J. A. Kitchin, commissioner of agriculture and labor.

Jamestown—Julian F. Wells.

Grand Forks—M. A. Gill and Hans Anderson.

Devils Lake—Michael Noonan.

Onkes—Ed Stock and Hugh Willis.

Minot—W. A. Winfrey and another.

Three additional men are on duty at Fargo today. They are George A. Montgomery and Lee Murray, both of the federal field force, and Ed McShane, supplied by the state.

Others at several points in the state were appointed but the names were not given out.

GOOD CLASS OF MEN

Fargo, July 21.—"We have never had a better class of men," declared Mrs. M. B. Bowe, superintendent of the Federal-State Employment service here, in commenting on the influx of harvest hands. Men are passing thru Fargo by the hundreds bound for the harvest fields—she said.

The class of men this year is better than in a number of years," Mrs. Bowe said. "Many of them are from farms in Wisconsin and Minnesota. They come on passenger trains and in motor cars and they are here to work. They take work as soon as it is offered, without any fussing or quibbling, satisfied that if there is a raise in wages their employers will pay them as much as any other hands are getting. With this kind of men in the field it is safe to say that the North Dakota crop will be handled as well as in former years."

Thousands Coming During the past week several hundred men have been placed on farms where help is needed, and thousands are expected in the next week or two, it was said.

The rye harvest has started, and many men have been sent out for the harvest. According to Mrs. Bowe, thus far, all men willing to go out at the wages offered have been placed as soon as application was made. Within a week or ten days the wheat harvest will be in full swing in the northwestern part of the state while rye harvest will be on in the west and northwest. With the harvest on in all parts of the state there will be a demand for several thousand men at good wages.

EHRHARDT MAKES ESCAPE

Berlin, July 21.—According to a special newspaper dispatch from Vienna, Capt. Hermann Ehrhardt, leader of the Capps Putsch of 1920, who escaped from prison at Leipzig, July 15, has arrived in Hungary. The report says that the fugitive succeeded in crossing the frontier concealed in a private automobile.

MANY RELIEF CASES HANDLED BY RED CROSS

Tragedies Are Prevented By Timely Action of Welfare Worker

SCOPE OF WORK

Thirty relief cases in the city of Bismarck, six health cases in the county, and 86 soldier cases, forty-two of which have been closed but may open again are being handled at the local Red Cross offices by the social worker.

A number of relief cases which have required city aid from a couple of months to a year or more have been disposed of by Miss Mary Cashe, social worker, in the three months in which she has had charge of the local office. In one instance a mother and four children who had been kept at city expense for a year and a half to the extent of about $37.50 monthly in addition to fuel and some extra expense in the winter have been reunited with the father of the family as a result of several months of correspondence and arrangements of Miss Cashe and the social worker in the Iowa city in which the father was residing. This family was transported to Minneapolis, Minn., on passes over the Northern Pacific as a result of the efforts of W. A. McDonald, agent, in response to Miss Cashe's request for charity rates over the railroad. The Minneapolis social worker took charge of the family when they arrived in the Twin Cities and the Iowa worker arranged in her city for the arrival of the wife and children.

Another family, a wife and nine children, who had been receiving city aid during the winter and the spring were put in touch with relatives in Minneapolis, Minn., recently; and still another old couple who have been costing the city $50 a month for a considerable period of time have been connected up with relatives who plan to undertake the keeping of the couple. This means a saving of $50 monthly on this family alone.

A short time ago when an old lady had suddenly been left without any competence, the social worker investigated the situation and instead of urging the city to keep the woman, she arranged with a daughter of the woman in the east to take her into her home.

Not alone does the social worker connect people up with their relatives made by Miss Cashe, and then does everything possible to re-establish the family and home life. A young mother and two children who had been deserted by the father of the family three months ago have been made self-supporting by the finding of employment in a larger city for the mother.

In each instance which has been mentioned a thorough survey has been made by Miss Cashe, and then some kind of plan made to do for people the best thing possible under the circumstances. In many instances it is advisable to give old people or cripples, or mothers as bodied are not allowed to draw from the city support while they do nothing. It is only, however, after careful and intelligent investigation that one can definitely arrive at a conclusion of what is best for the family or individual concerned. Indiscriminate giving is discontinued.

Much of the work passing through the Red Cross office is that of soldiers of the World War. Many have sustained disabilities while in the army or their disabilities have increased or developed since their discharge from service for which they would be unable to obtain assistance if it were not for the assistance given them by the social worker who has made a study of soldier cases and laws pertaining to them. Many cases have been brought to successful conclusion through the assistance and cooperation given the men at the Red Cross office.

The cases which are being handled by Miss Cashe for the county pertain to a great extent to health problems and the obtaining of medical attention for the individuals.

In addition to the many relief cases and soldier cases which constantly confront the social worker, for she no sooner concludes one that others arise, is the problem of delinquency. An unusually large number of these pass through the office. Bismarck has shown its progressive spirit in the matter of the social problems arising in the city by engaging a specially trained worker to meet these problems and handle them with practical efficiency, instead of following the old method of every organization and many individuals, the city and the county all giving and applying or counteracting the work of the other.

After 200,000 Mile Hike He's Still Lonesome

JOSEF F. MIKULEC AND HIS BOOK

By NEA Service
Cleveland, O., July 20.—Josef F. Mikulec has wandered over 200,000 miles seeking "The Biggest Thing in Life."

And after 21 years of globe-trotting and autograph collecting, he isn't sure but what he might have found the object of his search right at home in Croatia.

"I have visited kings and queens, presidents, governors and notables in all lands. I have seen every country and every city; have traveled when and where I pleased—but I have missed the biggest thing in life," he says sadly.

"The biggest thing? Companion-ship—real companionship. I meet scores of people every day. But they aren't interested in me and I can't get the opportunity to become interested in them. They want to know of my travels, and I've got to tell it all over again."

"When the day is done I haven't anyone I can sit down and talk with as one friend, talks with another. And that is the biggest thing in life."

Everyone knows Mikulec. President Harding has met him. So has Woodrow Wilson, the Prince of Wales, J. P. Morgan, the late Teddy Roosevelt and hundreds of others of equal note.

Twenty-one years ago—he's 45 now—Jose left his home in Croatia, a province of Hungary. He's been walking ever since, through a score of nations and every state in the United States.

New he wants a little farm somewhere in his adopted country. He sees a wheat field, or maybe rows of corn and tomatoes and plums and horses and chickens—and neighbors.

Book Weighs 57 Pounds
Jose's autograph book weighs 57 pounds now. Names that would amaze you are written in it. Just about every world character except John D. Rockefeller and the king of England.

He uses a little wagon to carry the book, it is so heavy. For many years, however, he carried it, but it wasn't that big then. He increases it as it fills.

Joe wants to see his book finally placed in a museum or library. He hopes someone will buy it for that purpose.

"Price? He won't say, but he does add that what it brings will buy the farm and have plenty left over to take him through the remainder of this life with friends."

FARMERS PLAN LABOR CUT IN HARVESTING REPORTS SHOW

Farmers of North Dakota will get along with as little additional harvesting labor as possible this year, according to statements made in numerous reports received by J. A. Kitchen, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, in charge of state employment work.

Expressing belief that the need of harvest laborers would be cut to a minimum by this attitude upon the part of farmers, Mr. Kitchen made public reports received by the statistical division of his office giving estimates of the condition of crops as of July 10 and the labor needs. In several instances persons reporting to the office said that the amount of labor used would depend in part upon the scale of wages, and that farmers were determined not to pay what they regarded as excessive prices for harvest workers.

Reports on the condition of crops show good crops exist in most portions of the state except some counties in the central part, but that fear is expressed that rust damage will cut the yield.

State employment offices will be opened Monday in Bismarck, Grand Forks, Oakes, Minot and Devils Lake, in addition to the federal state office in Fargo, to assist in procuring and distributing farm labor. They will be kept open for two months, Mr. Kitchen said.

Reports to the statistical department of his office on the condition of crops as of July 10 and labor needs follows:

COMMANDER OF MAINE, HERO OF WAR, IS DEAD

Admiral Sigbee, Who Commanded Ill-Fated Ship Blown up in 1906, Dies

New York, July 20.—Rear-Admiral Charles Sigbee, U. S. N. retired, captain of the ill-fated battleship Maine, died suddenly yesterday.

Admiral Sigbee had been in poor health for two years, although only Wednesday he was out riding. His death was due to heart disease.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made but he will be buried at Arlington cemetery, Washington, probably Monday.

Rear Admiral Charles Dwight Sigbee rose to fame through one of the greatest naval disasters in American history—the "blowing up" of the Maine. He was 52 years old at the time, a captain, a veteran of the Civil War, and an inventor of deep-sea exploring and sounding apparatus.

Captain Sigbee, commander of the Maine, was ordered to Havana Harbor to protect American lives and property during the crisis of the Cuban rebellion against Spain in 1898.

As the vessel was on a friendly mission, she was received with the customary courtesies from the Spanish war ships, and the usual official visits. She was assigned to a special anchorage and placed there by the proper agents of the Spanish government.

On the evening of February 15 the great white battleship had been riding quietly at anchor for more than two weeks. Captain Sigbee went to his cabin shortly after 8 o'clock and wrote a long letter to his wife. By the time he had finished many of the 328 men and 26 officers were asleep.

The Captain had just enclosed the letter in an envelope and started to seal it when a deafening roar sounded through the ship. The great vessel began to list. Groping his way through the dark, Sigbee reached the deck. A scene of horror greeted him. The Maine was sinking.

"None can ever know," he said later, "the awful scenes of consternation, despair and suffering down in the forward compartments; of men wounded, or confined in the swirling water, or confined in a closed compartment slowly filling with water. It is comforting to believe, and it is probably true, also, that most of those who were lost were killed instantly."

The tragedy cost the lives of 264 sailors. The news spread over the world in a few hours, but not before the entire American fleet was alerted to a pitch of frenzy, believing the Maine had been blown up by hostile Spaniards.

Admiral Sigbee added fresh laurels to his fame in the war that soon followed the disaster. As commander of the St. Paul, a trans-Atlantic liner converted into an auxiliary cruiser, he captured the Spanish collier Restormel, carrying coal to Cervera, and thus sealed the fate of the Spanish fleet at Santiago. The cruiser Isabella II and the destroyer Terror both hauled down their flags and surrendered to him.

NEIGHBORS RALLY TO DILLAGE, WITH TRAGEDY STALKING HIM

Lignite, N. D., July 20.—Lee Dillage followed sadly to the grave the bodies of his wife and her father who died while the local man was held in a Canadian jail to await a new trial on a charge of robbery, and the defendant will now be granted a reprieve until October 2 when he must reappear before the bar of justice at Regina. The central figure in the tragic drama will endeavor to resume his former existence, rudely interrupted by his arrest, trial for murder, acquittal, trail for robbery, long period of incarceration and the death of his loved ones.

He plans on again taking charge of the operation of his farm near this village while awaiting his fight for permanent liberty.

The funeral of Mrs. Dillage and her father held Wednesday, was attended by the largest concourse of mourners ever assembled in this section of the state, and included a great throng of close friends and acquaintances in addition to hundreds of morbidly curious attracted by the tragic aspects of the double funeral.

Services were conducted at the farm home, saddened by the misfortunes which have befallen the family, and by the absence of the two children who are recuperating at a Kenmare hospital. A funeral sermon was delivered in the village and the long procession of nearly 200 cars then wended its way to the burial ground at Flaxton where interment took place.

The $40,000 bail which was demanded by the kings court was met by the payment of $20,000 by Dillage and sureties of $10,000 each by bondsmen Albert C. Rogers of Estevan and M. J. Hanson of Bismarck. Neighbors of Dillage subscribed $10,000 toward his bonds.

DRY CHIEF IS INDICTED; SAYS ITS "FRAME-UP"

W. H. Anderson, Superintendent New York League, Charged with Extortion

New York, July 21.—William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York yesterday was indicted on several counts and the grand jury which returned the indictments recommended legislative investigation of the league since Mr. Anderson took its helm in 1914.

Three indictments—two charging grand larceny in the first degree, and one forgery in the third degree—were handed down today. Assistant District Attorney Pecora announced the jury also voted two indictments charging extortion and that these would be filed next Wednesday.

Pleads Not Guilty

Mr. Anderson, on trial when the indictments were handed down, pleaded not guilty before his counsel, former Gov. Charles S. Whitman, could open his mouth.

After the dry crusader had been released on $3,000 bail, he issued through his publicist department, a long statement which began: "I shall wear as a medal of honor and a service badge my indictment for political purposes by the most corrupt and powerful wet political organization in the world as part of the Tammany conspiracy to put the qualification governor of New York in the White House in defiance of the conscience and character of the nation."

The first grand larceny indictment charged that Mr. Anderson feloniously obtained $4,578 from the league in March of 1921.

The second alleged he feloniously obtained $1,750 on February 3, 1921.

The forgery indictment set forth that he had falsely ordered $4,409 to be entered in the league's books in March, 1921, as the hotel and traveling expenses of O. Berthall Phillips, a collector for the league.

Grand jury investigation of Mr. Anderson's handling of the league's funds was pressed after he had steadfastly refused to make more specific concerning the expenditure of $24,700 than to state that it had been used "for publicity purposes."

Overhead Street Cars as Parking Solution

With the adoption of overhead street cars in large cities, as shown here, the automobile parking problem might be solved. The torpedo-shaped car is the invention of Private Detective Fletcher E. Felts of Los Angeles. It has been approved by that city's police department and California railroad companies have asked that the sales rights be withheld until their engineers can study the plans of the proposed system.

It failed to take a sharp turn and overturned in a deep roadside ditch. The rescuers said that had it not been for the tooting horn, they no doubt would have passed the overturned car in the darkness as it was practically hidden from sight.

Two other accidents have happened recently at the turn, and autoists are agitating the placing of a guard rail, warning signs and widening of the curve.

Corporations are aiding veterans trained by the Bureau to their lists of employees, Director Hines has announced. The Bethlehem Steel Company recently asked for 200 ship workers from among the rehabilitated men. Alcohol May Be Used For Motor Fuel Eventually MAN'S submission to the lure of John Barleycorn is preventing him from taking advantage of one of the most saving opportunities he will ever meet as a motorist. That is the chance for practically every motorist to make his own motor fuel at a ridiculously low cost! The motor fuel is alcohol, said to be far better than gasoline as a power source, but prohibited from sale or use for any purpose, except medicinal, in the United States.

If every man were a tee-totaler! And the government were certain of his remaining such! Still, could be erected in every backyard, for the conversion of spoiled grain, decayed fruit, sawdust and all sorts of waste into automotive power. It would be a great boon to motorists.

Until someone again discovered the intoxicating qualities of this wonderful "fuel." AT any rate, we may be using still cheaper fuel for our automobiles. It may be gasoline, too, although not as pure (?) as the kind we use today. Experts of the U. S. Bureau of Standards have been working with four grades of gasoline as a motor fuel, and have already come to the conclusion that all four grades give about the same mileage per gallon, under certain conditions. That is, each grade was used in a way best suited for its individual make-up. The carburetor had to be adjusted when the experts changed from one grade to another. All four grades were tested under summer conditions.

As a result, we may find it just as effective to use a lower grade of gasoline, and therefore more plentiful and cheaper, than the kind we use today.

The engineers are continuing their experiments in this direction. IN the end, gasoline as a motor fuel is a poor thing to rely on for the millions of motorists in the world. It is power the supply of which is destined to fail us—or our succeeding generations.

Instead, it has been suggested, some way ought to be found of utilizing the sunshine of the present for the creation of auto fuel. That is, growing plants in the tropics and making use of them from year to year, as sources of automotive alcohol or other fuel.

THE tropics, still practically bare of useful products, may yet be put to one of the greatest uses mankind may devise for it. Alcohol, the better fuel, could be obtained from the living plants. HOWEVER, while we're still using gasoline and do not foresee its abandonment for years to come, the research department of the Society of Automotive Engineers is hard at work on ways and means to conserve this fuel. In its statement to the La Follette Senate committee, which is investigating the gasoline situation, the S. A. E. reports fuel conservation can be had through improved carburetion, more efficient gasoline, better engines and education of the motoring public.

"An 'X' factor," the society reports, "except perhaps the education

Find Seven Farmers Who Did Not Plant Wheat

Fargo, N. D., July 23.—Seven farmers who did not plant a single acre of wheat this year were found in the survey of successful Missouri Slope farms conducted by the farm management department of the North Dakota Agricultural college and the United States department of agriculture. The purpose of the survey, which has just been completed, was to determine why a few farmers have made money where most of them have not.

Data secured from the 166 farms surveyed will be assembled by clerks at the college, and this work will take several months before the results and conclusions regarding the necessary modifications to make farming profitable generally in that territory will be available for publication.

Similar information is being secured in surveys in five other states which are being conducted by the respective farm management departments and the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture.

How Business Depression Tests Good-Will

Many a manufacturer during the past two years has had an opportunity to measure as never before the real worth of his advertising investment.

He has seen his trade - marked line keep up in sales and his unadvertised goods shrink to a small fraction of their former volume. Innumerable instances could be cited.

Dealers can tell a similar story. The number of makes carried of each item have shrunk to a very few—the best known and most frequently called for. Dealers have changed their point of view; they no longer stock lightly with many brands, but substantially with a few.

Quick turnover is their only salvation in a depression and their real source of profit in a prosperous period.

HOLD WHEAT IS PLAN ADVANCED BY BUREAU MAN

SAYS PRICE TOO LOW

Chicago, July 21.—A plan to withdraw 200,000,000 bushels of wheat from the market and store it on farms until prices advance, was announced by President O. E. Bradfute, of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The farm bureau plan provides for financing the project under the intermediate credit act, by which, Mr. Bradfute estimated, $500,000,000 could be made available to lend to farmers for storing the surplus.

President Bradfute estimated that $150,000,000 would be ample to store 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and thereby remove it from the below a dollar market.

Bradfute declared that farm wheat bins under the intermediate credit act, might be designated as government bonded warehouses for which bonded warehouse receipts could be issued against wheat stored on the farm. In this manner, he declared, the grower would be enabled to borrow, through the intermediate credit system, up to three-fourths of the market value of his wheat with the warehouse receipts as collateral, enabling him at the same time to hold his wheat until prices advance and it became advisable to sell.

The farm bureau federation, Bradfute said, expected to advance its plan through its 48 state farm bureaus including 1,500,000 members. In co-operation with the commodity marketing associations and the country banks, The Wheat, Kam, A, intermediate credit bank, he declared, is actively advancing $100,000 a day to growers under this plan, with prospects for applications totaling a daily peak of $2,000,000, the money being loaned at 5-1-2 per cent.

The withdrawal of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat from the market and the locking it up under government seal in farm warehouses, Bradfute said, will have an immediate effect on prices.

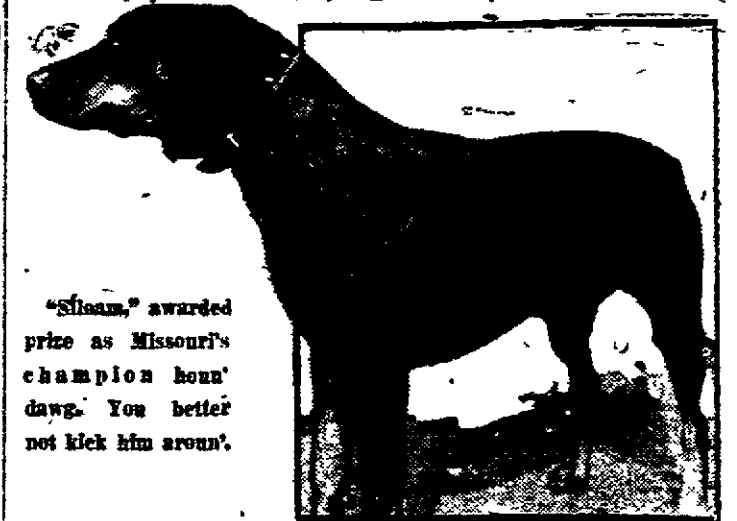

"Wheat selling below one dollar a bushel is a national tragedy in America," his statement said. "It is tragedy not only to the farmer who grows the wheat at a loss, but also to the consumer—the businessman and the laborer—who must ultimately depend on that farmer's wheat dollar for their continued prosperity and happiness."

"The American Farm Bureau Federation believes that co-operative marketing is the ultimate solution to the national wheat price problem. We are now at work on a national co-operative grain marketing policy, being formulated upon instructions from our members. Under this plan the growers of the nation will in effect place their grain in a common bin and will merchandise it in a orderly way over the consumptive period, instead of dumping it on an already overloaded market during the four months following harvest. Co-operative marketing of wheat will unquestionably solve the price problem to the benefit of both producer and consumer."

Up to Secretary of Agriculture.

Missouri Has Found Her Ideal In the Canine World

"Siloam," awarded prize as Missouri's champion hound dogs. You better not kick him around."

By NEA Service

Excelsior Springs, Mo., July 20.—Missourian hounds, particularly from Clay county, feel they are being unrighteously kicked around. And by all that's peculiar to a hound dog, it's got to stop, they vow. This city is in Clay county. Hound dogs abound round the old familiar pound, but many a one is caught.

They always got the freedom of the place, so familiar a sight were they. Then the city council voted a tax of $10 on each individual hound. Tax on hivers is $3.50. And while the hounds felt decidedly compelled by the special attention, they decided they weren't from the "show me" state for nothing.

Their owners called a mass meeting and a protest parade of hounds was held through the streets. The dogs didn't wear licenses, in defiance of the new law.

Hundreds lined the streets, expecting something. But nothing transpired, excepting a show at the end. Purse was raised for the best "hound" dogs. And "Siloam" was chosen as the champion hound dog in the state.

City officials employed a special dog catcher before the parade. But no dogs were arrested, and the hounds are enjoying special liberties. Judge John H. Morrison, justice of the peace, is backing the dogs, and has formed a Missouri Hound Dog Society. Each year now hound shows will be held.

is not ready to function as yet, he said, adding that the new intermediary credit law is in effect, however, and urging the secretary of agriculture to designate warehouses on farms as government bonded warehouses to allow the farmer to market his wheat in an orderly manner and still be provided with sufficient capital to carry on his business.

PIG RAISING IN N. D. SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Number Saved This Year and Intention of Doubling Number of Sows Shown

A substantial increase in the number of spring pigs saved in North Dakota this year and intentions on part of farmers of more than doubling numbers of sows to be bred for fall farrowing this year is indicated in the survey just completed by rural carriers of the U. S. Post Office department in co-operation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to a summary released by the office of the agricultural statistician which gives the following estimates for North Dakota: Numbers of spring pigs saved 25% more than a year ago as a result largely of the increase in spring sows farrowed which are shown to have been 16% more than last year, although below earlier intention, as indicated by the survey last December at which time a 35% increase was indicated. Numbers of sows which farmers intend to breed for farrowing this fall are estimated to average 103 per cent more than actual farrowings a year ago. Last year at this time the 1922 fall farrowings were indicated as 35 per cent less than those of 1921.

States an increase of 0.9 or almost 1 per cent is shown in numbers of spring pigs saved and 3.9 per cent as the increase in numbers of spring brood sows. Intentions for fall farrowings show strong increases, averaging 25.5 per cent for the corn belt states and 23.3 per cent for the United States.

In the analysis of The Digest's poll of Democratic leaders, there are many side-lights of picturesque interest. One Texas editor, for instance, says whimsically, "Those of us who are of the red-necked class are for McAdoo. Those of us who don't know what we want or how to get it are for Ford. The conservative among us and those who want to go back to the old traditions of the party are for Underwood. Those of us who like our 'likker' are for Al. Smith and so on. It is great to be a Democrat." An intensely interesting news-feature this!

HOLD WHEAT IS PLAN ADVANCED BY BUREAU MAN

SAYS PRICE TOO LOW

Chicago, July 21.—A plan to withdraw 200,000,000 bushels of wheat from the market and store it on farms until prices advance, was announced by President O. E. Bradfute, of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The farm bureau plan provides for financing the project under the intermediate credit act, by which, Mr. Bradfute estimated, $650,000,000 could be made available to lend to farmers for storing their surpluses.

President Bradfute estimated that $150,000,000 would be ample to store 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and thereby remove it from the below a dollar market.

Bradfute declared that farm wheat bins under the intermediate credit act, might be designated as government bonded warehouses for which bonded warehouse receipts could be issued against wheat stored on the farm. In this manner, he declared, the grower would be enabled to borrow, through the intermediate credit system, up to three-fourths of the market value of his wheat with the warehouse receipts as collateral, enabling him at the same time to hold his wheat until prices advance and it became advisable to sell.

The farm bureau federation, Bradfute said, expected to advance its plan through its 48 state farm bureaus including 1,500,000 members, in co-operation with the commodity marketing associations and, the country banks. The Wichita, Kan., intermediate credit bank, he declared, is already advancing $100,000 a day to growers under this plan, with prospects for applications totaling a daily peak of $2,000,000, the money being loaned at 5-1-2 per cent.

The withdrawal of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat from the market and the locking it up under government seal in farm warehouses, Bradfute said, will have an immediate effect on prices.

"Wheat selling below one dollar a bushel is a national tragedy in America," his statement said. "It is tragedy not only to the farmer who grows the wheat at a loss, but also to the consumer—the businessman and the laborer—who must ultimately depend on that farmer's wheat for their continued prosperity and happiness."

"The American Farm Bureau Federation believes that co-operative marketing is the ultimate solution to the national wheat price problem. We are now at work on a national co-operative grain marketing policy, being formulated upon instructions from our members. Under this plan the growers of the nation will in effect place their grain in a common bin and will merchandise it in a orderly way over the consumptive period, instead of dumping it on an already overladen market during the four months following harvest. Co-operative marketing of wheat will unquestionably solve the price problem to the benefit of both producer and consumer."

Up to Secretary of Agriculture.

The plan, except in a few sections,

Missouri Has Found Her Ideal In the Canine World

"Siloam," awarded prize as Missouri's champion hound dawg. You better not kick him aroun'.

By NEA Service

Excelsior Springs, Mo., July 20.—Missourian hounds, particularly from Clay county, feel they are being unrighteously kicked aroun'. And by all that's peculiar to a hound's way of life, they vow.

This city is in Clay county. Hound dawgs abound round the old familiar pound, but nary a one is caught.

They always got the freedom of the place, so familiar a sight were they.

Then the city council voted a tax of $10 on each individual hound. Tax on flivvers is $2.50. And while the hounds felt decidedly displeased by the special attention, they decided they weren't from the "show me" state for nothing.

Their owners called a mass meeting and a protest parade of hounds was held through the streets. The dawgs didn't wear licenses, in defiance of the new law.

Hundreds lined the streets, expecting something. But nothing transpired, excepting a show at the end. Purses were raised for the best "hound" dawg. And "Siloam" was chosen as the most typical hound dog in the state.

City officials employed a special dog catcher before the parade. But no dawgs were arrested, and the hounds are enjoying special liberties. Judge John H. Morrison, justice of the peace, is backing the dogs, and has formed a Missouri Hound Dog Society. Each year now hound shows will be held.

DRY CHIEF IS INDICTED; SAYS ITS "FRAME-UP"

W. H. Anderson, Superintendent New York League, Charged with Extortion

New York, July 21.—William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, yesterday was indicted on several counts and the grand jury which returned the indictments recommended legislative investigation of the league since Mr. Anderson took helm in 1914.

Three indictments—two charging and one forgoing in the third degree—were handed down today. Assistant District Attorney Pecora pronounced the jury also voted two indictments charging extortion and that these would be filed next Wednesday.

Pleads Not Guilty
Mr. Anderson, on hand when the indictments were handed down, pleaded not guilty before his counsel, former Gov. Charles S. Whitman, could open his mouth.

After the dry crusader had been released on $2,000 bail, he issued through his publicity department, a long statement which began:

"I shall wear as a medal of honor and a service badge my indictment for public purposes by the most corrupt and powerful wet political organization in the world as part of the Tammany conspiracy to put the nullification governor of New York in the White House in defiance of the conscience and character of the nation."

The first grand larceny indictment charged that Mr. Anderson feloniously obtained $4,400 from the league in March of 1921.

The second alleged he feloniously obtained $1,750 on February 3, 1921.

The forgery indictment set forth that he had falsely ordered $4,400 to be entered in the league's books in March, 1921, as the hotel and traveling expenses of O. Berthall Phillips, a collector for the league.

Grand Jury Investigates

DISORDERS IN SELESIAN CITY

Breslin, July 21.—Serious disorders are taking place in Breslin, it was indicated by a semi-official telegram received today saying that the Governor of lower Silesia has issued an order proclaiming "extreme exceptional" conditions in the town and district.

Major meetings have been forbidden, the telegram adds.

The chief of police has instructed his men to take all possible measures to suppress excesses.

Hundreds of arrests have been made and several plunderers have been killed. The inhabitants have been advised to stay off the streets and the sale of liquor has been prohibited.

Overhead Street Cars as Parking Solution

With the adoption of overhead street cars in large cities, as shown here, the automobile parking problem might be solved. The torpedo-shaped car is the invention of Private Detective Fletcher E. Felts of Los Angeles. It has been approved by that city's police department and California railroad companies have asked that the sales rights be withheld until their engineers can study the plans of the proposed system.

It failed to take a sharp turn and overturned in a deep roadside ditch. The rescuers said that had it not been for the tooting horn, they no doubt would have passed the overturned car in the darkness as it was practically hidden from sight.

Two other accidents have happened recently at the turn, and autoists are agitating the placing of a guard rail, warning signs and widening of the curve.

Many Men Are Placed by Legion

Indianapolis, July 21.—Assisted by the American Legion and by large industrial establishments, the United States Veterans Bureau has been able to place almost all of the 19,401 men rehabilitated between July, 1922 and June 1, 1923, according to information received by legion national headquarters in Indianapolis. Corporations are aiding veterans trained by the Bureau in their lists of employees. Director Hines has announced. The Bethlehem Steel Company recently asked for 200 ship workers from among the rehabilitated men.

Alcohol May Be Used For Motor Fuel Eventually

MAN'S submission to the lure of John Barleycorn is preventing him from taking advantage of one of the most saving opportunities he will ever meet as a motorist.

That is the chance for practically every motorist to make his own motor fuel at a ridiculously low cost!

The motor fuel is alcohol, said to be far better than gasoline as a power source, but prohibited from sale or use for any purpose, except medical, in the United States.

If every man were a teetotaler! And the government were certain of his remaining such!

Stills could be erected in every backyard, for the conversion of spoiled grain, decayed fruit, sawdust and all sorts of waste into automotive power. It would be a great boon to motorists.

Until someone again discovered the intoxicating qualities of this wonderful "fuel."

At any rate, we may be using still cheaper fuel for our automobiles. It may be gasoline, too, although not as pure (?) as the kind we use today.

Experts of the U. S. Bureau of Standards have been working with four grades of gasoline as a motor fuel, and have already come to the conclusion that all four grades give out the same mileage per gallon, under certain conditions. That is, each grade was used in a way best suited for its individual make-up.

The carburetor had to be adjusted in the experts changed from one grade to another. All four grades were tested under summer conditions.

The engineers are continuing their experiments in this direction.

At the end, gasoline as a motor fuel is a poor thing to rely on for the millions of motorists in the world. It is power the supply of which is destined to fail us—or our succeeding generations.

Instead, it has been suggested, some way ought to be found of utilizing the sunshine of the present for the creation of auto fuel. That is, growing plants in the tropics and making use of them from year to year, as sources of automotive alcohol or other fuel.

The tropics, still practically bare of useful products, may yet be put to one of the greatest uses mankind may devise for it. Alcohol, the better fuel, could be obtained from the living plants.

HOWEVER, while we're still using gasoline and do not foresee its abandonment for years to come, the research department of the Society of Automotive Engineers is hard at work on ways and means to conserve this fuel. In its statement to the La Follette Senate committee, which is investigating the gasoline situation, the S. A. E. reports fuel conservation can be had through improved carburetion, more efficient gasoline, better engines and education of the motorist public.

"All these factors," the society reports, "except perhaps the education

PARTY BEATEN SAYS JOHNSON

New Minnesota Senator Wants Special Session

Kimball, Minn., July 21.—Unless the people get control of the government through the Farmer-Labor party or other similar organizations this country "will go to pieces," declared Magnus Johnson, United States Senator-elect from Minnesota in an address here last night.

Johnson, the Farmer-Labor party candidate in last Monday's election, spoke before 2,500 persons from Kimball and towns in this vicinity, at a mass meeting here to celebrate his victory over Governor J. A. O. Freds, Republican.

The people, said Mr. Johnson, are dissatisfied with the present national administration and if President Harding were to run tomorrow for reelection he would be defeated, 3 to 1, according to the senator-elect.

Three years ago, declared Johnson, the Republicans "had a wonderful chance" to help the farmer—but they failed to do so, as they had promised. He said he would ask for a special session of congress within a month or two to take up special matters relating to farming, to relieve the distress of the tillers of the soil.

It was not Governor Freds who, he continued, but the Republican party as such.

With reference to charges published in a St. Paul paper and made by J. M. Anderson, former president of the Equity Cooperative Exchange, that Johnson, while an officer of the organization defrauded the members, Johnson challenged Anderson to meet him in a debate and prove the charges.

Find Seven Farmers Who Did Not Plant Wheat

Fargo, N. D., July 21.—Seven farmers who did not plant a single acre of wheat this year were found in the survey of successful Missouri Slope farms conducted by the farm management department of the North Dakota Agricultural college and the United States department of agriculture. The purpose of the survey, which has just been completed, was to determine why a few farmers have made money where most of them have not.

Data secured from the 166 farms surveyed will be assembled by clerks at the college, and this work will take several months before the results and conclusions regarding the necessary modifications—to make farming profitable generally in that territory will be available for publication.

Similar information is being secured in surveys in five other states which are being conducted by the respective farm management departments and the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture.

Experiment With Varieties of Wheat

Fargo, N. D., July 21.—Many varieties of winter wheat are planted each year at the North Dakota Experiment Station, in order to test out their hardiness, according to Director P. E. Trowbridge. In addition, crop breeding of different varieties of winter wheat is being carried on for the purpose of securing a variety harder than either of the original parents.

"The introduction of winter wheat in North Dakota as a commercial crop would be so desirable, that work upon the breeding of cold-resistant

How Business Depression Tests Good-Will

Many a manufacturer during the past two years has had an opportunity to measure as never before the real worth of his advertising investment.

He has seen his trade-marked line keep up in sales and his unadvertised goods shrink to a small fraction of their former volume. Innumerable instances could be cited.

Dealers can tell a similar story. The number of makes carried of each item have shrunk to a very few—the best known and most frequently called for. Dealers have changed their point of view; they no longer stock lightly with many brands, but substantially with a few.

Quick turnover is their only salvation in a depression and their real source of profit in a prosperous period.

Mrs. D. T. Owens Returns From Visit To Powder River

(Contributed)

Mrs. D. T. Owens and children have returned from a month's vacation in the Powder River cattle country with headquarters at "The Portal in the Pines," the home of L. M. Mackin, a brother of Mrs. Owens.

This wondrous picturesque region presents volcanic upheavals with rolling springs, a most extraordinary feature. The average homesteader does not substant on grandeur, and most of the settlers abandoned their claims during the seven year years now fully past. Those who were patient and trustful, counseled, "Don't give up the ship." The prairie schooner is still seaworthy and liable to keep afloat for the proverbial seven fat years. Striking oil has become a vivid reality and a railroad is hurrying along just as the N. P. road hastened to the relief of isolated ranchers in this section and every other corner of the U. S. A. For that matter, where settlers stick to their job and don't get discouraged and go back away back to sit down and grumble about hard times. Getting ahead of the railroad is getting in on the first floor, no crowding, and the obvious advantages are immeasurable.

The grandfather of this afore-said, ground-floor rancher, journeyed overland, from western New York to western Wisconsin, no doubt often reminding his stubborn mules, as a mild form of the profanity of exasperation, "You don't know what you're talking about." We don't know but probably the mules did and gave us the privilege of finding out, at leisure, and there wasn't any leisure.

A swift railroad followed the slow mules.

A stalwart son of the overland emigrant, a chip off the old block—not the mulish element but material by which railroads are made, insured transportation by exploitation and even so the generation keep on following the Star of Empire till now they seem to have reached a realm where the sun never sets, even for starlight, anyway, the heat is so intensely intense, our only consolation is in the probability of getting injured to any extremes of climate the hereafter may have prepared for us.

CHURCH FILLED WITH FRIENDS

Many Pay Respects at Funeral of Mrs. T. J. Woodmansee

The Methodist church was filled with sorrowing friends at the funeral service held for Mrs. T. J. Woodmansee, who died Tuesday, as a result of a nervous breakdown and complications, yesterday afternoon. The altar of the church was banked with floral tributes. During the services Mrs. Frank Barnes sang "There is a Land Mine Eyes Hath Seen" while the church choir sang "Crossing the Bar" and "Asleep in Jesus."

Rev. S. E. Halford who delivered the funeral address spoke of the beautiful character of the deceased, her loyalty as a friend and worker in the church and the inspiration which those who had known her and worked with her had derived from the association. He emphasized the fact that the friends and relatives could derive happiness from the contemplation of a life well lived.

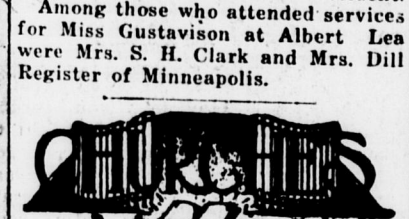

Before laying the deceased to rest in St. Mary's cemetery a short but impressive service was held at the grave.

Return From Last Rites For Miss Gustavison

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jones and Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Cole have returned from Albert Lea, Minnesota, where they attended funeral services for Miss Eleanor Gustavison, who was the victim of an automobile accident in Ohio Sunday.

The accident happened about seven miles northwest of Norwalk, Ohio, on a paved road. Rain had made the pavement slippery. The car skidded off the pavement and the front axle and wheel broke, the car plunging down a 20-foot embankment, and turning over, it appears from information given to relatives. Miss Gustavison was seated in the front seat and Rollo, a brother, on the right side in the rear seat. They caught the full brunt of the crash. Mr. Henderson, brother-in-law of Rollo Gustavison, was driving and his wife, Rollo Gustavison and Mrs. Gustavison were in the rear seat. Mrs. Rollo Gustavison's scalp was badly torn in the accident, and Rollo Gustavison was driving at a moderate rate of speed at the time of the accident.

Among those who attended services for Miss Gustavison at Albert Lea were Mrs. S. H. Clark and Mrs. Dill Register of Minneapolis.

EXTREME STYLES. Kid painted in Paisley designs and shark, alligator, ostrich and lizard skins are used to make the fancy sandals so popular with those who affect extreme styles in footwear.

SCARLET LEATHER. Bags of scarlet leather were much in evidence at the Paris races. Those of rich gold brocade or colorful embroidery were also popular.

WHITE LINGERIE. Lingerie of fine white cotton voile is trimmed with pipings of lavender, pink, blue or yellow, and the drawnwork.

RAISED WAISTLINE. The raised waistline is a feature in fall fashions. Whereas it has not entirely returned to normal, it is much nearer that goal than it was six months ago.

PERFORATED LEATHER. Perforated leather is used effectively on suits, dresses and coats for fall. In some cases it gives the effect of elaborate embroidery.

JERSEY DRESSES. Jersey dresses and suits from Paris have large collars and cuffs of suede, sometimes of white, but more frequently of beige or tan.

FALL COLORS. For fall wood greens and bottle greens, with dashes of scarlet or orange, are to be the leading colors.

BACK TO THE EIGHTIES. There is a suggestion of the "eighties" in the bustle draperies and bouffant effects of the present day, but fashion experts say the high collars, rigid stays and many petticoats are in no danger of returning.

IN ETERNAL SNOW

What do you know about the Eskimos? You've seen pictures of them, standing around in the snow in their heavy furs, and probably decided they looked too stupid to be interesting. But the Eskimos are a remarkably fascinating, strange people, according to an interview with Donald B. MacMillan, the polar explorer, published in the Christian Register.

Parents select their children's husbands and wives among the Eskimos. Men marry at 20, girls at 12. A man's at liberty to have two wives if he can support them. The first wife is never jealous of the second, for she knows the newcomer will, by custom, do the household drudgery.

Orphan children are gladly given a home with any family they select. And Eskimo children never are punished. The old are deeply respected.

Life up there is a problem of hunting wild game for clothes and food, with no other industry that amounts to much. Eskimos have no calendar, no days, weeks or years. No woman knows her age. Time is taken as it comes, without worry, without measuring it.

Until they were discovered by explorers in 1830, says MacMillan, the Eskimos thought they were the only people in the world. They have in their mythology two people who started the human race, an Adam and an Eve. The old men pass on to succeeding generations a legend about "a great flood that long, long ago came over the tops of the hills 2000 feet high." Noah's flood?

The Eskimos have always believed in a life hereafter as firmly as in this existence on earth. They accept this belief as too sensible to doubt or argue about. Heaven, they believe, will have less cold than here, with better hunting and a reunion with loved ones who have died. They also believe in a form of reincarnation.

The Eskimos, says MacMillan, are the happiest, most carefree people in the world, though terrors of darkness, tempest, cold and famine are ever at their doors.

"Many children die at birth, the mothers are so hard-working; but if a child lives four or five days it will live until it is 60; for there are no diseases in the Far North—no cancer, pneumonia or tuberculosis."

What? A country with no disease? A people among whom every day is Sunday? A race where parents are respected by their children and families are supremely happy? That won't do. Our public affairs lunatics will have to hurry up and CIVILIZE them.

MONEY

Twenty-five years ago this month, the nation was excited by reports that a consolidation was under way to control the iron and steel industry. Newspapers of that time said the proposed deal involved the stupendous sum of 80 million dollars.

A dollar now is worth half as much as in 1898, but a business consolidation involving only 160 million dollars wouldn't cause much excitement in 1923. We are losing our respect for money. That's at the root of a lot of our economic and social problems.

CONSIDER

Union Pacific railroad men in one week built a 33-mile branch from Lund to Cedar City, Utah, to get President Harding to one of his speaking engagements.

At the same time, in Montana, Northern Pacific engineers were rushing 40 miles of railroad sidings to park 1200 Pullman sleepers for the Dempsey-Gibbons fight.

Boy, page Mr. Socrates.

FINE!

A small pony, hauling a peddler and his ice cream wagon that weighed over a ton, collapsed in the shafts in New York City. A dozen idlers came to life and made the peddler haul the wagon two blocks. By that time the crowd had grown to 5000 and police had to interfere to head off a riot. In very hot weather, too, this great show of activity.

Kindness to animals is a very fine thing. But the highlight of this pony episode is its illustration of the contagion of mob spirit, the factor that is apt to upset the political dopesters in the next national election. Most people lose their mental balance in a multitude, which may be why we have so many defects when we express our mob spirit in national movements.

INDIA

Another of the last strongholds of romance and adventure—India—begins succumbing to the steam roller, civilization. We like to think of India as a quaint jungle country of temples, tigers, buried jewels and magicians. But a trade reports tells us that India already has 265 cotton mills, swarms of steel plants, a billion dollars worth of irrigation projects under way, and a growing net-work of government-owned railroads.

This is "progress"—which makes the world duller.

GAMBLING

Do you play the stock market "on margin?" If you do, you should be backing a 10-to-1 shot, in order to get an even run for your money. For 9 out of 10, who gamble in stocks on a marginal basis, lose their money.

Why say so? A high former official of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, New York City. Paste this in your hats, shoestring plungers.

QUADRILLIONS

Russia has printed so much paper money that the Soviet is six months behind in announcing the total. But from the Bolshevik revolution in 1917, up to the first of 1923, over two quadrillion paper rubles have come from the printing presses into circulation. To write that out, put down the "2", and follow it with 15 ciphers. It's over a million rubles for every man, woman and child on earth.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The next place in Rainbow Lane, was where the Little Pezzers lived. When Mr. Sky Bow brought Nancy and Nick to this queer place, they almost stepped on six of them before they knew they were there.

Before you could sneeze the Little Pezzers began to crawl up Nancy's legs, and Nick's legs and Mister Sky Bow's legs and to run all over them like ants, for they weren't any bigger than ants, really.

"Oh, look!" cried one. "Look what I've found! What do you s'pose it's for?"

"It was Nick's pocket, my dears, that the curious little fellow was poking into."

Instantly a hundred of them popped down in and pretty soon out they came dragging Nick's knife.

"What's this funny thing?" they cried.

Nick took it carefully so as not to crush any of them and showed them how the blades opened.

"What's it for?" they wanted to know.

"To cut with," said Nick.

At the same time a hundred more of the Little Pezzers had jumped down into Nancy's open pocket and hauled out her scissors.

"What are these funny things for?" they wanted to know. They kept to peep with all their might so Nancy could hear them.

"They are to cut with," she answered.

"Ooooo! Eeee!" screamed all the Little Pezzers, dropping Nick's knife like a hot potato and dropping Nancy's little scissors like a hornet's nest.

"These people are butchers!" And they scrambled down off the Twins' shoulders and arms and heads and every place they had found a toe hold for their tiny little feet—and they slid down their legs and skeddaddled away so fast that in two seconds and three quarters there wasn't a single Little Pezzer left.

"Oh, I'm so sorry we scared them," said Navey.

"Well, I love a lump of sugar 'or them," said Mr. Sky Bow. "They love it."

GETTING MIGHTY HOT

TELEPHONE CONVERSATION BETWEEN MRS. HARRY ELLINGTON AND MR. WALTER BURKE.

"Is this Mrs. Ellington?"

"Yes."

"Say, that was a funny contraption yesterday but you needn't worry about it, dear. I thought to make you see that what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

"By the way, what was the matter with you yesterday before your husband came in? I haven't done anything to make you angry, have I?"

"Not in the least, Harry, but your coming into the tea room confirmed me in my decision that things have been going too fast with us. I am going to call a halt."

"I have taken a great fancy to Mrs. Prescott, Walt. I found yesterday that I had more fun shopping with her than I have ever had talking foolish nonsense with you, and I do not intend to have our friendship hurt by any foolishness on my part."

"I thought you told me, Ruth, that you were not a prude."

"I am not, but I do care very much for what people say of me, even though I know I am in the right. I don't believe there is a woman living who does not have regard for what people will say unless she has completely lost her own self-respect."

"There you go again, Ruth. I thought you were a new woman."

"I am, but yesterday you showed me that even you want your women to be above reproach in the mind and speech of people. You wish us to be the most circumspect of beings with every one but yourself and yet you will not pretend us against yourself. Any woman with the slightest intuition would have known yesterday that you had been making love to me. I did not like it."

"I only wanted to make you happy, Ruth."

"And you have succeeded, Walt, in making me quite unhappy. You know of course that our little flirtation was perfectly harmless, but you gave the appearance of premeditated mischief. I guess I'm vain. I want the little foolish thing that will make up my mind on the head yesterday when she said, 'All women want little kisses, small caresses, tiny bits of loving, little children and a few friends.'"

"Don't you know, my dear Ruth, that you are the kind of woman who will never get anything little? You have a kind of magnetism or fascination that some women have for all men. A man starts in to flatter you a little but either consciously or unconsciously you egg him on."

"I wish that were true, Walt. I wish I could do that to my own husband."

"Do you ever try?"

"Isn't that rather brutal, Walt?"

"No, it isn't, Ruth, for after yesterday I have found out the reason why your and Harry's marriage seems a mistake. No man really knows just what he wants. Always some woman must show him. Harry has that age-old tradition still in his veins that his wife must be something too good for human nature's daily food. It's up to you, Ruth, to make him think that you are not."

"And you don't think so, Walt?"

"Certainly not! I would not have

Mrs. Fred Stabler and two sons of Oakland, Calif., are visiting at the home of her sister, Miss Genevieve Boehm, and with Mrs. Wm. Stabler.

Two babies, the 11-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dilger, and the four-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Perderer, died yesterday. Whooping cough was given as the cause of the former while colic was given as the cause of death to the other.

The presence of a young, beautiful and undeniably attractive widow is bound to cause something more than a mild sensation in any quarter of the globe where there happens to be a preponderance of unattached males. It was perfectly natural, therefore, that Monica Viney, at such times as her brother was occupied with his affairs, was only at a loss for a cavalier to accompany her on her habitual excursions in search of knowledge, after the sun was down. At these times, however, Pennington was never available. He came and went and yet she had never witnessed either his arrival or departure.

They had been strolling leisurely through the native quarter, stopping at innumerable stores and purchasing an inordinate quantity of perfectly useless articles. They halted presently before a long building from which a stream of steam came bursts of gurgling laughter. At one end a door stood half-open, a patch of yellow light falling on the roadway.

She caught his arm impulsively and tried to drag him toward the entrance, but Dawson, cautious and unmovable as granite, waited until there was a lull in the stream of devotees. He guided her through the doorway and into a narrow cubicle screened from the entrance-hall by a heavy curtain. An elderly Chinaman, hump-backed and wizened, left the stool on which he had been seated, nodded to Dawson and went out. Her escort placed the stool in front of a narrow slit cut in the woodwork.

Monica peered cautiously through the whole length of the hall, a round dozen of smaller ones, and the entire walls seemed to be covered with

THE YELLOW SEVEN THE BOX TRICK

OR A SERVICE MEN'S.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Captain John Hewitt, Commissioner of Police at Jesselton, British North Borneo, asks help from Chai-Sung, influential Chinese, in the recovery of jewels stolen from Lady Stornaway while she is a guest at the commissioner's home. Peter Pennington, known as "Chinese Pennington" because of his slant eyes, is hired by the government to run to earth The Yellow Seven, a gang of Chinese bandits. Monica Viney, beautiful widow, is living with her brother Captain Hewitt.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Monica gasped.

"The well of oriental cunning knows no bottom," continued Pennington. "and yet I flatter myself I've learnt to probe into it deeply."

"I have been waiting quietly but steadily on this rather unusual jewel robbery."

"I found no difficulty in running the original trail to earth. I was on the point of closing with him when a singular complication occurred. As I lay on my 'tummy' in the undergrowth, he was knifed—completely and effectively—before my eyes!"

Hewitt bent forward suddenly.

"Good Lord!"

"I colored the assassin low and we fought like wild cats. He had the strength of a bison and, if he hadn't left his knife in the back of his victim, I shouldn't be here now. Anyhow he broke away and got clear, leaving me with this."

He held the torn half of a yellow strip of paste-board before the commissioner's astonished eyes.

The second end seemed deprived of the power of speech, and it was Monica's voice that launched the question.

"But, Mr. Pennington, if he were a confederate—why did he kill his friend?"

"Because," suggested her brother, "once having got the pendant, he decided to keep it."

"No," said Pennington with conviction, "I fancy you're wrong there. The assassin didn't trouble to search the dead man, but I went over him very thoroughly. The booty had passed from his hands long before I overtook him."

Monica drew in a deep breath.

"I believe my friend was guilty of a serious indiscretion in leaving behind the token that had been entrusted to him—the yellow seven."

"I don't see that we're much forwarder," declared Hewitt moodily. "What do you suggest doing?"

"Turning in for a spell," said Pennington. "In the meantime watch every person who enters the place to embark—anyway—and a statement."

He made his way toward the back of the house, leaving Monica bubbling over with curiosity.

Hewitt anticipated the question that was forming itself on her lips.

"That's about the most remarkable fellow in Jesselton," he told her. "Chinese Pennington, they call him. You saw his eyes? His pedigree's faultless, but some extraordinary freak of fortune—or birth, if you like, decreed he should go through life—looking like that. I fancy locality has a big effect on appearance. Pennington's people are merchants in Shanghai for generations. Anyhow, he's a native. To all intents and purposes he's as white as you or me, but there's no getting away from the fact that he has the eyes of an oriental. He knows Chinese character inside out. He can talk like them. He can get himself up to look like 'em. He holds a sort of roving commission. He's a sort of a native agent, there it is, ahead of the natives know of Pennington, but they've never managed to nail him. They regard him as something almost superhuman. They call him 'he who sees in the dark.'"

"How delightfully thrilling!" commented Monica. "He must be frightfully brave."

The commissioner smiled grimly. "Pennington'd tackle the devil incarnate."

Fumble Ball and Cincinnati Hits Hard, Giving Climbing Team Easy Contest

Chicago, July 21.—The Brooklyn Robins received the Cincinnati Reds with hospitality, presenting them with a game, 11 to 4. They had a lot of fun out of it, and got 14 hits, one less than the Reds. Their field work was exceptionally poor and some of their six errors led directly to Cincinnati runs. Caveney, the Red's shortstop, made the only homer.

The Giants beat the Cardinals by a ninth inning rally at the Polo Grounds, 10 to 9. At the beginning of the last half of the ninth the St. Louis team was ahead 9 to 8, but $175,000 worth of talent in the persons of McConnell and McQuillan, who cost $100,000 and $75,000 respectively, was called to the fore and answered with the goods. McConnell hit a two-bagger and McQuillan a single, both driving in runs.

In Boston Gooch and Russell mapped out a round trip each with a man on base, but this was not enough to defeat the home team. Mitchell won a hard-fought pitching duel in Philadelphia, defeating Kaufman and the Chicago Cubs 1 to 0. The battle was won in the ninth when Holte hit a single with a man on third.

The Athletics defeated the Browns in St. Louis, 10 to 4, knocking four pitchers around the lot. The Red Sox won an uphill game with the Chicago White Sox in Chicago, 5 to 4. The Senators used an off-day to advantage by playing a previously postponed game with the Indians, and cleaning up 12 to 5. By their defeat the Indians lost half a game to the idle Yanks.

JAMIESON IS HITTING HARD

Moves up on Harry Heilmann; Leading Slugger of Americans

Chicago, July 21.—(By Associated Press)—Charley Jamieson of the Cleveland Indians, surged on the hitting of his teammates in the rush of the Speaker tribe toward the top of the list, is again threatening Harry Heilmann, star slugger of the Detroit Tigers for the leadership among the hitters of the American League, according to averages released today and which include Wednesday's games. Jamieson is hitting at a .379 clip, while Heilmann, suffering a four point loss during the past week, is leading the race with .396. The averages are of players who have participated in 50 or more games.

Babe Ruth of the Yankees, who is rapidly overtaking Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals for the home run honors, is third in hitting with an average of .375, and Eddie Collins, of the White Sox, who was out of the game with an injured knee, has swung back into his stride and again is camped in fourth place with a mark of .354.

Ruth in his marathon with the National League home run clutter had a better week than his rival, cracking out three circuit blows while Williams bagged one. Williams is leading with 23 while Ruth has 22. The Yankee star had increased his total base record to 205 and as a run-getter, boosted his total to 84.

Other leaders batters: Speaker, Cleveland, .353; J. Sewell, Cleveland, .347; Haney, Detroit, .345; Witt, New York, .342; Williams, St. Louis, .337; Burns, Boston, .337; J. Harris, Boston, .336.

Rogers Hornsby, star of the St. Louis Cardinals, is making rapid strides to clinch his hold at the head of the batters of the National League. He has now passed the 400 mark and is safely perched out in front with an average of .409, compared with .351 a week ago. Zack Wheat continues to be the runner-up with .381, and Barnhart of Pittsburgh, is next with .377. Ed Roush of the rushing Cincinnati Reds is making a strong bid with the leaders and is fourth with .370.

Cy Williams, leading home run hitter of the majors, is holding the margin by one circuit, Detroit, his total being 23, while Babe Ruth of the American League has 22. The Philadelphia National slugger added only one four base blow to his string, but he ran his total base record to 179 bases.

DAKOTA LEAGUE MEN SIGNED

Minneapolis, July 21.—Elmer Shaughnessy and Lasser Fisher, infielders, and Clarence Griffin and Frank Brinda, pitchers, have been added to the Minneapolis American Association team, it was announced yesterday. Shaughnessy comes from Mitchell, S. D., Brinda from Aberdeen, S. D., and Griffin from Watertown, S. D., all of the disbanded South Dakota League. Fisher mails from Clarkdale, Minn.

RUTH SPRINGS TRICK HOME-RUN BAT

Judge Landis May Be Called Upon To Render Decision On It

By NEA Service

Cleveland, O., July 21.—Babe Ruth is sure the original cuss. When the Babe isn't busy making home runs he is pulling something that will keep Judge Landis and Ben Johnson interested.

In 1921 Ruth made 59 home runs. The lively ball in use was regarded as the big reason for the Babe's remarkable feat.

If the Babe should come through this year with a goodly share of circuit drives, in all probability an investigation of the bat he uses will be demanded.

On July 2 Ruth started to use a bat, the like of which has never been seen in the baseball world. Since that date Ruth has been on a swat spree that has greatly increased his home-run record.

Rule 15 of the playing code says that the bat used in baseball must be round, not over two and three-fourths inches in diameter at the thickest part, nor more than 42 inches in length and be entirely of hard wood.

The bat that Ruth is now using with such great success is all that the rule says and then some. Instead of being turned out of one piece of wood, the bat is made of four distinct sections, which are glued together.

This unusual bat is said to be the outgrowth of an idea advanced by Sam Crawford, in his day one of the greatest batmen the game has ever produced. The bats are now being turned out at Hittler, Calif., Crawford being interested in the company that is making them.

With the ordinary bat there are always parts of the wood that are weak because of the grain. As a matter of fact most batmen so hold the bat that the grain will always be up when it comes into contact with the ball.

Crawford's idea does away entirely with any weakness in the bat. The bat is constructed of four sections of the very best selected wood, so that it is uniform throughout. It is known as the "quadre-built bat," and the claim is made that it is many times stronger than the one-piece affair.

Does such a bat conform to the rules of baseball?

It may be necessary for Ben Johnson, Judge Landis and the other high powers of baseball to pass on this question.

The four-piece bat unquestionably offers an opportunity for trickery. If such a bat was loaded at the point of contact with a heavy substance would it cause the ball to travel farther?

Would a cork center in the bat make for distance as it has in the ball?

Constructing the bat of four distinct sections would offer the possibility of pulling something.

Is glue to be regarded as a foreign substance?

Crawford sent several of these bats to Ruth. The Babe is trying them out and is having unusual success. There could be no greater advantage for a bat than the fact that Ruth is using it and making plenty of home runs.

In all probability before many weeks have passed the "quadre-built bat" will be as widely discussed as the "shine ball," the "emery ball" and other widely known tricks of the trade.

City good base-running helped. Zart singled, stole second and scored on Zimmerman's single, after two were out.

CHANGES MADE IN LEAGUE

Pickering Plays Field Temporarily for Minot

Earl Pickering, released as manager by the Valley City team, is playing in the outfield for Minot now. Injuries to catcher Warner caused Hester to send Oliver, regular outfielder, behind the bat.

The release of Schlanlaub by Jamestown to Valley City to become manager of that team has caused Wingfield to shift from third to first base. Frank Dreis, who umpired in Bismarck, has signed to play third base for Jamestown. Wingfield used to play with Dreis, when the latter was with Fargo in the northern league. He said while Dreis was umpiring that he was one of the best third basemen in the Northwest.

When Umpire Labe Safo gave up the ghost in Jamestown, he went out in the grandstand to watch a game. "Buck" Enger, for Jamestown, and Denison, for Minot, players, umpired the game. Safo shouted to Enger from the stand "you'll get yours." But the players got by pretty well. Funk, the umpire who pleased local fans, tried to resign because of his health, but he's still on the job at Valley City.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

THE PLAY Here is a play that involves juggling of fly ball.

There is a runner on third and one man out. The batsman hits to center. The left and center fielders start after the ball. The left fielder makes a play on the ball, but at the ball strikes his hands he stumbles and the ball is knocked into the air.

The center fielder, who is nearby, completes the catch by getting the ball before it touches the ground. The runner on third held his base until the ball struck the hands of the left fielder. He then started for the plate.

The contention was raised that the base runner had no right to leave his base until the completion of the catch, that the left fielder had merely intercepted the ball.

What about this play?

THE INTERPRETATION The run counts. The runner on third held his base until the fly ball touched the hands of a fielder.

The fact that the left fielder did not retain the ball, and that the play was completed by the center fielder, has no bearing on the play.

Second Johnny Evers Is Compliment Experts Pay George Grantham

By NEA Service

Chicago, July 21.—The second edition of Johnny Evers is George F. Grantham.

When Evers, alias the "Keystone King" and author of "Touching Second," removed his uniform and departed Chicago fans never expected to see his equal again.

But Bill Killefer, who believes in developing youth, found George Grantham, a third baseman with the Omaha club in the Western League last season, on his squad this spring. With two infield positions open—second and third, Killefer asked his recruit what he knew about the middle sack.

"Lead me out to it and I'll show you," was Grantham's reply.

Killefer did, with the result that he claims he has the second edition of Johnny Evers in his young prospect.

At present Grantham is starting in the National League by becoming the leading base stealer. He has passed Max Carey, who has held the honor for years. He is ahead of Sammy Bohne, another artist at

Grantham does not take the big lead of Carey or Cobb, but he gets the jump on the pitcher. He breaks away like a streak, uses a long slide and hooks his foot to the bag perfectly.

In fielding Grantham already is showing promise of making good Killefer's boast. He has a big pair of hands, scoops in a roller similar to the inimitable Honus Wagner, snaps the ball with an underhand shot and does not give up on a roller until it has passed him.

When Killefer succeeded Johnny Evers as manager of the Cubs he announced that he would rebuild with youth. He did not want worn-out veterans. He was going to put together a fast, snappy machine. That's just what he has done and Grantham is an important link in the chain.

Grantham bats from both sides of the plate, was born May 20, 1900, at Kingham, Ark., stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs 190 pounds.

completion of the catch, fielders would be constantly tossing the ball around to keep base runners up in the air.

BISMARCK IS AGAIN VICTOR

Team Beats Valley City in Booster Day Game, 5 to 2

Valley City, July 21.—Bismarck won the booster game here last night, 5 to 2. The locals out hit the visitors. Both pitchers were wild. Day allowed eight passes and Cantin five. The visitors scored four runs in the third on two errors, one hit and three passes. The locals scored two in the fifth only on two hits, an error and a sacrifice fly. Boardman appeared in left-field for Valley City.

The locals had a bad inning in the third when the Capitol crew drew three passes and one hit. This along with two errors by Valley City enabled them to put four runs across the plate which was enough to win the game. The locals scored their only two runs in the fifth. Kennedy walked, Ramage was safe on an error by Shanley. Jude singled bringing Kennedy home and sending Ramage to third. Ramage scored the second and last run for his team on Schanlaub's sacrifice fly to the center garden.

There will be no game today. Charley is expected to pitch one of the games in a double-header scheduled for Sunday.

MINOT TAKES FIRST TUMBLE

Jamestown, N. D., July 21.—Errors spoiled a good ball game here yesterday and Jamestown beat Minot 7 to 6, because they made one less error than did the Magicians. Both teams used two hurlers. Manager Hester going on the mound in place of Denison. Oliver hit two home runs and Gunther got one. Score:

BROOKLYN ON SHORT END IN RED CONFLICT

Fumble Ball and Cincinnati Hits Hard, Giving Climbing Team Easy Contest

Chicago, July 21.—The Brooklyn Robins received the Cincinnati Reds with hospitality, presenting them with a game, 11 to 4. The Reds had a lot of fun out of it and got 13 hits, one less than the Reds. Their field work was exceptionally poor and some of their six errors led directly to Cincinnati runs. Cavenay, the Red's shortstop, made the only homer.

The Giants beat the Cardinals by a ninth inning rally at the Polo Grounds, 10 to 9. At the beginning of the last half of the ninth the St. Louis team was ahead 9 to 8, but $175,000 worth of talent in the persons of McGowan and McQuillan, who cost $100,000 and $75,000 respectively, was called to the fore and answered with the goods. McGowan hit a two-bagger and McQuillan a single, both driving in runs.

In Boston Gooch and Russell mapped out a rousing trip each with a man on base, but this was not enough to defeat the home team and Pittsburgh went down 8 to 5. Mitchell won a hard-fought pitching duel in Philadelphia, defeating Kauffman and the Chicago Cubs 3 to 2. The battle was won in the ninth when Holte hit a single with a man on third.

The Athletics defeated the Browns in St. Louis, 9 to 6, knocking four pitchers around the lot.

The Red Sox won an uphill game with the Chicago White Sox in Chicago, 5 to 4. The Senators used an off-day to advantage by playing a previously postponed game with the Indians, and cleaning up 12 to 5. By their defeat the Indians lost half a game to the idle Yanks.

JAMIESON IS HITTING HARD

Moves up on Harry Heilmann, Leading Slugger of Americans

Chicago, July 21.—(By Associated Press)—Charley Jamieson of the Cleveland Indians, surged on the hitting of his teammates in the rush of the Speaker tribe toward the top of the list, is again threatening Harry Heilmann, star slugger of the Detroit Tigers for the leadership among the hitters of the American League, according to averages released today and which include Wednesday's games. Jamieson is hitting at a .379 clip, while Heilmann, suffering a four point loss during the past week, is leading the race with .356. The averages are of players who have participated in 50 or more games.

Babe Ruth of the Yankees, who is rapidly overtaking Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals for the home run honors, is third in hitting with an average of .375, and Eddie Collins, of the White Sox, who was out of the game with an injured knee, has swung back into his stride and again is camped in fourth place with a mark of .354.

Ruth in his marathon with the National League home run clouter, had a better week than his rival, cracking out three circuit blows while Williams bagged one. Williams is leading with 23 while Ruth has 22. The Yankee star had increased his total base record to 208 and as a run-getter, boosted his total to 84.

Other leaders batters: Speaker, Cleveland, .358; J. Sewell, Cleveland, .347; Haney, Detroit, .345; Witt, New York, .343; Williams, St. Louis, .337; Burns, Boston, .337; J. Harris, Boston, .336.

Rogers Hornsby, star of the St. Louis Cardinals, is making rapid strides to clinch his hold at the head of the batters of the National League. He has now passed the 400 mark and is safely perched out in front with an average of .409, compared with .381 a week ago. Zack Wheat continues to be the runner-up with .381, and Barnhart of Pittsburgh, is next with .377. Ed Roush of the rushing Cincinnati Reds is making a strong bid with the leaders and is fourth with .370.

Cy Williams, leading home run hitter of the majors, is holding the margin by one circuit blow, his total being 23, while Babe Ruth of the American League has 22. The Philadelphia National slugger added only one four base blow to his string, but he ran his total base record to 179 bases.

DAKOTA LEAGUE MEN SIGNED

Minneapolis, July 21.—Elmer Shagnessy and Clarence Griffin, infielders, and Clarence Griffin and Frank Brinda, pitchers, have been added to the Minneapolis American Association team, it was announced yesterday. Shagnessy comes from Mitchell, S. D., Brinda from Aberdeen, S. D., and Griffin from Watertown, S. D., all of the disbanded South Dakota League. Fisher hails from Clarksdale, Miss.

RUTH SPRINGS TRICK HOME-RUN BAT

Judge Landis May Be Called Upon To Render Decision On It

By NEA Service

Cleveland, O., July 21.—Babe Ruth is sure the original case.

When the Babe isn't busy making home runs he is pulling something that will keep Judge Landis and Ben Johnson interested.

In 1921 Ruth made 59 home runs. The lively ball in use was regarded as the big reason for the Babe's remarkable feat.

If the Babe should come through this year with a goodly share of circuit drives, in all probability an investigation of the bat he uses will be demanded.

On July 2 Ruth started to use a bat, the like of which has never been seen in the baseball world. Since that date Ruth has been on a swat spree that has greatly increased his home-run record.

Rule 15 of the playing code says that the bat used in baseball must be round, not over two and three-fourths inches in diameter at the thickest part, nor more than 42 inches in length and be entirely of hard wood.

The bat that Ruth is now using with such great success is all that the rule says and then some. Instead of being turned out of one piece of wood, the bat is made of four distinct sections, which are glued together.

This unusual bat is said to be the outgrowth of an idea advanced by Sam Crawford, in his day one of the greatest batmen the game has ever produced. The bats are now being turned out at hitter, Calif., Crawford being interested in the company that is making them.

With the ordinary bat there are always parts of the wood that are weak because of the grain. As a

Crawford's idea does away entirely with any weakness in the bat. The bat is constructed of four sections of the very best selected wood, so that it is uniform throughout. It is known as the "quadre-built bat," and the claim is made that it is many times stronger than the one-piece affair.

Has Ruth the right to use such a bat?

Does such a bat conform to the rules of baseball? It may be necessary for Ben Johnson, Judge Landis and the other high powers of baseball to pass on this question.

The four-piece bat unquestionably offers an opportunity for trickery. If such a bat was loaded at the point of contact with a heavy substance would it cause the ball to travel farther?

Would a cork center in the bat make for distance as it has in the ball?

Crawford sent several of these bats to Ruth. The Babe is trying them out and is having unusual success. There could be on greater ad for a bat than the fact that Ruth is using it and making plenty of home runs.

In all probability before many weeks have passed the "quadre-built bat" will be as widely discussed as the "shine ball," the "emery ball" and other widely known tricks of the trade.

City good base-running helped. Zart singled, stole second and scored on Zimmerman's single, after two were out.

CHANGES MADE IN LEAGUE

Pickering Plays Field Temporarily for Minot

Earl Pickering, released as manager by the Valley City team, is playing in the outfield for Minot now. Injuries to catcher Warner caused Hester to send Oliver, regular outfielder, behind the bat.

The release of Schlanau by Jamestown to Valley City to become manager of that team has caused Wingfield to shift from third to first base. Frank Dreis, who umpired in Bismarck, has signed to play third base for Jamestown. Wingfield used to play with Dreis, when the latter was with Fargo in the northern league. He said while Dreis was umpiring that he was one of the best third basemen in the Northwest.

When Umpire Labe Saffro gave up the ghost in Jamestown, he went out in the grandstand to watch a game. "Buck" Enger, for Jamestown, and Denison, for Minot, players, umpired the game. Saffro shouted to Enger from the stand "you'll get yours." But the players got by pretty well. Funk, the umpire who pleased local fans, tried to resign because of his health, but he's still on the job at Valley City.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

THE PLAY

Here is a play that involves juggling of fly ball. There is a runner on third and one man out. The batsman hits to center. The left and center fielders start after the ball. The left fielder makes a play on the ball, but at the ball strikes his hands he stumbles and the ball is knocked into the air.

The center fielder, who is nearby, completes the catch by getting the ball before it touches the ground. The runner on third held his base until the ball struck the hands of the left fielder. He then started for the plate.

The center fielder, after completing the catch, threw the ball to the third baseman, who touched that base and claimed a third out.

The contention was raised that the base runner had no right to leave his base until the completion of the catch, that the left fielder had merely intercepted the ball.

What about this play?

THE INTERPRETATION

The run counts. The runner on third held his base until the fly ball touched the hands of a fielder. The fact that the left fielder did not retain the ball, and that the play was completed by the center fielder, has no bearing on the play. If a distinction was made as to

Second Johnny Evers Is Compliment Experts Pay George Grantham.

By NEA Service

Chicago, July 21.—The second edition of Johnny Evers is George F. Grantham.

When Evers, alias the "Keystone King" and author of "Touching Second," removed his uniform and departed Chicago fans never expected to see his equal again.

But Bill Killefer, who believes in developing youth, found George Grantham, a third baseman with the Omaha club in the Western League last season, on his squad this spring. With two infield positions open—second and third, Killefer asked his recruit what he knew about the middle sack.

"Lead me out to it and I'll show you," was Grantham's reply.

At present Grantham is starting the National League by becoming the leading base stealer. He has passed Max Carey, who has held the honor for years. He is ahead of Sammy Bohne, another artist at that line, and he is regarded as the hardest runner in the league to catch on a steal.

Grantham does not take the big lead of Carey or Cobb, but he gets the jump on the pitcher. He breaks away like a streak, uses a long slide and hooks his foot to the bag perfectly.

In fielding Grantham already is showing promise of making good Killefer's boast. He has a big pair of hands, scoops in a roller similar to the inimitable Bonus Wagner, snaps the ball with an underhand shoot and does not give up on a roller until it has passed him.

When Killefer succeeded Johnny Evers as manager of the Cubs he announced that he would rebuild with youth. He did not want worn-out veterans. He was going to put together a fast, snappy machine. That's just what he has done and Grantham is an important link in the chain.

Grantham bats from both sides of the plate, was born May 20, 1900, at Kingham, Ariz., stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs 155 pounds.

Team Beats Valley City in Booster Day Game, 5 to 2

Valley City, July 21.—Bismarck won the booster game here last night, 5 to 2. The locals out hit the visitors. Both pitchers were wild. Day allowed eight passes and Cantin five. The visitors scored four runs in the third on two errors, one hit and three passes. The locals scored two in the fifth only on two hits, an error and a sacrifice fly. Boardman appeared in left field for Valley City.

The locals had a bad inning in the third when the Capitol crew drew three passes and one hit. This along with two errors by Valley City enabled them to put four runs across the plate which was enough to win the game. The locals scored their only two runs in the fifth. Kennedy walked, Ramage was safe on an error by Shanley. Jude singled—bringing Kennedy home and sending Ramage to third. Ramage scored the second and last run for his team on Schanlaub's sacrifice fly to the center garden.

There will be no game today. Charley is expected to pitch one of the games in a double-header scheduled for Sunday.

MINOT TAKES FIRST TUMBLE

Jamestown, N. D., July 21.—Errors spoiled a good ball game here yesterday and Jamestown beat Minot 7 to 6, because they made one less error than did the Magicians. WHEAT VALUES ARE UNSETTLED

Conflicting Reports Received
On the Chicago Board

Chicago, July 21.—Wheat values were unsettled during the early dealings today. The plan of the American Farm Bureau for holding back wheat on farms induced some buying at the start. Cash houses sold, hedging against purchases to arrive, but at 98 cents for the September delivery there was a good class of buying which absorbed the offerings and a rally followed. Winnipeg showed independent strength, despite favorable crop reports which had some effect here after the opening. Reports from parts of Minnesota, telling of damage from black rust and from the heat also had some effect on values here. The opening which varied from 3-8 cents decline to a like advance with September, 98 3/4 to 98 7/8 and December $1.01 3/8 to $1.03 5/8 was followed by upturns all around and then a general setback. The wheat was more or less under hedging pressure and there was a lack of aggressive support. Finish unsettled, with values ranging from 3-8 cents off to 3-4 and 7-8 cents higher with Sept. 99 1/4 to 99 3/8 and December $1.02 1/8 to $1.02 3/8.

SUICIDE VERDICT CHANGED TO MURDER

This hearing conducted before a coroner's jury by Magistrate J. Johnson at Frederick, Md., resulted in a former verdict of suicide being changed to one of "slain by persons unknown" in the death of Mrs. Grace Simmons Kepner. Inset is Miss Lula V. Ricketts, cashier in a lunch room, who was called as a witness. B. Eward Kepner, the slain woman's husband, testified that Mrs. Kepner had prayed to die.

What's Going on in The World

Reports of excellent wheat weather, bumper crops and prospect of immunity from ravages of black rust caused the price of wheat to drop below the $1 mark, for the first time since the beginning of the war in 1914. July wheat sold as low as 88 1/8 and September wheat also went down to this figure a day later.

Throughout the wheat producing countries, production has been reported so great that a large surplus was expected to remain on hand. This caused the sudden drop. But Eugene Meyer Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, and George E. Marcy, president of the Armour Grain Company, declare this attitude is merely over-anxiety and pessimism gone rampant. We have only a "reasonable carry-over" of wheat, they say, which should not cause any such radical drop in prices as occurred the last week.

Yet, from Canada come estimates of a 500,000,000 bushel wheat crop this year, as against a production of 396,000,000 bushels last year.

LABOR DISPLEASED
GOVERNMENT control, not ownership, of the United States anthracite industry is recommended by the coal commission, appointed to investigate this situation. It is expected the commission may make further recommendations concerning the bituminous industry in September.

The specific recommendation is that, in case of suspension of mining operations, the president be empowered to take over the mines, distribute coal and determine price, wages and compensation to land and mine owners.

To this President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor officially voices the objection of union labor. "Real penalties for the miners, phantom penalties for the operators," he declares, "seem to be the outstanding feature" of the recommendations. The miners will not give up their right to strike, he adds.

STRIKERS HIT AGAIN
No more country-wide railroad strike, like the one of last summer, is the promise of Attorney General Daugherty. It is based on the action of Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago in making permanent the temporary restraining order he issued last fall against the striking railroad shopmen.

At the same time the United States

FIRES ALL LOOK ALIKE

This might have been photographed in any American city. It was taken in Tokio where fire gutted the former offices of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha opposite the city hall.

Court of Appeals ruled striking shopmen and their leaders, who had been cited for contempt of court for violating the Daugherty injunction, may not have the benefit of a jury trial. What action the labor unions are contemplating in reply to this dual blow has not been divulged.

FRANCE RESENTS
PREMIER BALDWIN'S much heralded speech on Britain's policy on the Ruhr situation failed to contain the extreme anti-French views the world believed it might. Instead Baldwin merely restated the British position of cooperation among the allies, and stressed a little further the desire not to demand more from Germany than it will be humanly possible for her to pay.

It was so mild a statement, apparently, that French officials and newspapers seemed to feel satisfied with England's stand on the matter. But after a little further study of the speech, resentment and disappointment displaced this feeling of satisfaction. For France still insists on making Germany pay what is demanded of her and of remaining in the occupied areas until she does pay—or at least until she gives positive assurances that she will pay.

"LIMITATIONS" UP
FRANCE has finally ratified the Washington treaty for the limitation of naval armaments. No reservations were attached, although after pronounced effort to declare France's full liberty of action regarding the submarine provisions. The four-power Pacific treaty also was ratified.

WETS ARE HAPPY
LOSS of two strategic offices in Congress, one by death of Senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont, the other by defeat of Representative Andrew J. Volstead of Minnesota in last fall elections, may mean considerable weakening, if not actual loss, of dry control in the Senate. For, by the seniority rule, the chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary Committee will go to Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, a pronounced wet, and the similar position in the House will go to Representative George S. Graham of Pennsylvania, also a wet.

Each of these committees have ultimate control over the prohibition situation in Congress, and with these men as chairmen hopes of the wets have raised considerably higher.

TRADE PICKS UP
THE balance of trade has swung back in favor of the United States, for the month of June, although it is far behind for the period of the first half of this year. That is, we have been buying more than we were selling to other countries.

Last month our exports totaled $329,000,000, which was $1,000,000 over our imports. For the three preceding months, however, the balance of trade was against us to the tune of $152,000,000.

Economists say this is only to be expected, and should be greeted with gladness by us. For it shows Europe is again coming back into production enough to sell some of its stocks outside, and may soon be in a position to buy from us.

THE CAPITOL
Shirley Mason, the dainty Fox star, will be seen at the Capitol theater for a two day's engagement starting Monday in her latest starring vehicle, "Youth Must Have Love," which was directed by Joseph Franz.

Miss Mason's latest production is based on the story of a young man unjustly accused of the murder of an old miser, who had gained wealth and position through the unfortunate circumstances of others.

How Earl Stannard, the young man, is vindicated through the never failing faith and untiring aid of a girl, provides a romance of intrigue and adventure that promises to surpass all of Miss Mason's previous pictures for exceptional entertainment.

The story carries the audience through a series of unusual incidents and dramatic sequences to a powerful climax.

Among the many thrilling incidents in the play are the robbery of the old miser by his nephew, who causes his death while attempting to escape; the accusing finger pointed toward Earl Stannard; his daring escape from a pursuing posse; how a girl, bringing him food each day, is the cause of his hiding place being revealed; his unjust arrest for the crime and his escape from prison; the elopement of the youth and the girl with a posse following close behind; their capture when their automobile is wrecked and their subsequent vindication when the real criminal is revealed.
